TODAY'S FIGHT AT THE BALLOT BOX.

MILLIONS OF VOTES WILL BE CAST,

And the Fate of a Nation Trembles in the Balance.

CHAIRMAN ROSWELL P. FLOWER

Looks for a Sweeping Democratic Victory.

OPINIONS FROM ALL SIDES.

Today will be a memorable one in the history of the democratic party.

It will mean the triumph of the democracy and democratic principles over a combination of republicanism and money.

That this country is democratic was proven in the last presidential election, when over 130,000 more democratic than republican votes were polled, although the electoral college was composed of a majority of republicans. Likewise the majority of congressional districts are democratic.

Today's election will mean certainly fifteen, and perhaps as many as thirty-five, democratic majority in the next house of representatives. And this in face of the fact that the republican congressional committee has succeeded in raising and spending more than $350,000 in the close districts. A large majority of this money was "fried out" of the manufacturers protected by the McKinley bill. And $100,000 of this amount has been spent in Major McKinley's Ohio district. But besides this very large sums of money have been collected by the republican candidates and their friends, in the close districts, and spent without going through the hands of the committee in Washington.

On the other hand, the democratic congressional committee has been practically without funds. They managed to raise only a total of $42,000, of which $30,000 was subscribed with the distinct understanding that it be spent in Ohio. It has, and the total amount spent in all the other states by the congressional committee has been only $12,000. Chairman Roswell P. Flower, of the democratic committee, has been abused by the democratic press and politicians alike, not one word of which, however, has he deserved. No man could have done more under the circumstances. Neither the democratic congressmen nor democrats of the country would subscribe. Mr. Flower subscribed $10,000 out of his own pocket, and, when everything is settled up, it will cost him probably that much more. Of the other amount, $2,000 was raised in driblets from everywhere, including a few subscriptions of $50 each from democratic congressmen. The remaining $30,000 of the $42,000 was subscribed by Calvin S. Brice, Senator Payne and ex-Secretary of the Navy W. C. Whitney. They gave $10,000 each, with the proviso that it was to be expended in Ohio.

But, even with the disadvantage of poverty, today's election will demonstrate that the democratic party is the people's party. It means a good working democratic majority in the next house—and it means a democratic speaker to succeed burly Tom Reed.

This so, the question is, who will be speaker? The candidates are Charles F. Crisp, of Georgia; W. D. Bynum, of Indiana; W. H. Hatch, of Missouri; "Bill" Springer, of Illinois; Benton McMillin, of Tennessee; Roger Q. Mills, of Texas; McCreary, of Kentucky, and perhaps William L. Wilson, of West Virginia.

The race will really be between Crisp, Bynum, McMillin and Wilson, if he is in. And Crisp is quite certain to have more votes than any two of the other candidates. Indeed, unless a very large combination is formed between the other candidates, it is not a wild guess to predict Crisp's election on the first or second ballot in the democratic caucus. But why? Because it will certainly not take exceeding ninety votes to elect. And Judge Crisp is quite certain to get practically the unanimous vote of the democratic delegations from Georgia, Alabama, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Mississippi, Louisiana, and, if Mills is not a candidate, Texas. The chances also favor his getting the full vote of New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maryland and Ohio.

Already his election is conceded in many parts of the country. The democratic newspapers, except those in states that have a candidate, are almost unanimous for him, and even Major McKinley, the republican leader who has already conceded the next house to the democrats, has just announced in an interview that Judge Crisp is the ablest all-round man on the democratic side—the one most feared by the republicans—and that he will be elected speaker.

Howell Cobb is the only Georgian who has ever been speaker of the house. It looks now like Georgia will have another in the person of Charles Frederick Crisp.

The returns from the congressional elections, both in Georgia and the entire country, will be bulletined by THE CONSTITUTION in the Kimball house arcade tonight.

HOW THE ELECTION WILL RESULT.

An Estimate Which Gives the Democrats a Majority of Forty-Four.

WASHINGTON, November 3.—[Special.]—The republicans have abandoned all hope of securing a majority in the next house, and tonight their headquarters are dark and deserted. Governor Grosvenor has telegraphed from Ohio to his Washington friends that McKinley is surely defeated.

This morning's Post has a careful estimate, based on reports from all over the country, and places the democratic majority at from twenty-five to thirty. The democratic committee claim they will gain 1 member in Alabama; Arkansas, 1; California, 1; Connecticut, 2; Massachusetts, 1; Iowa, 2; Kansas, 2; Kentucky, 1; Maryland, 2; Michigan, 2; Missouri, 2; Minnesota, 1; New Hampshire, 1; New York, 2; North Carolina, 1; Ohio, 7; Pennsylvania, 2; South Carolina, 1; Tennessee, 1; Illinois, 1; Virginia, 2; Wisconsin, 1.

In Arkansas two democrats were turned out of this congress on contests, and it might be expected naturally that they would both be returned, making a gain of two from the way the delegation now stands.

In Louisiana, the democrats expect to defeat Coleman, but they fear also that they are going to lose one man, so no gain is counted there. A gain of two and a loss of one in Illinois, are expected by Illinois democrats, making a net gain of one. The Massachusetts democrats have expected a gain of two in that state, but the illness of Andrew places his district in doubt, and they, therefore, claim but one as a gain.

Ewart, republican, will probably be elected in North Carolina, and in West Virginia there is liable to be a stand off. The democrats in Virginia, New York and Iowa expect more than they claim. Expectations from a rock-ribbed republican state like Iowa have to be discounted by the democrats, but they feel morally certain of a gain of two there.

HOPE IN RHODE ISLAND.

The Rhode Island democrats expect to elect a member.

It appears from this that the democrats are liable to make a gain of thirty-seven. They may lose two in Indiana and one in Delaware. This would give them a net gain of thirty-four on these figures. The republicans gain two members which the democrats do not lose; the one from Idaho and one from Wyoming, making the total membership of the house 332. There are now 154 democrats in the house. A net gain of thirty-four would give them 188 in the next house. This would give them a majority of 44. The republican managers no longer give out figures, but content themselves by asserting that the democratic estimates are too high.

H. N. THOMPSON.

From Chairman Flower.

NEW YORK, November 3.—Editor Constitution: We have now 152 members in the house. We do not expect to lose one of these districts, and expect to gain one each in Alabama, Tennessee, New Jersey, Kansas, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Kentucky, Illinois, Massachusetts and Wisconsin; two each in Arkansas, California, Maryland, Missouri and Iowa; six in Ohio; three in New York, making 181 democrats, and 151 republicans. We hope to elect some alliancemen in Iowa, Kansas and Minnesota, which will put the republicans further from a majority.

ROSWELL P. FLOWER.
Chairman Democratic Congressional Committee.

Sure of a Democratic Majority.

WASHINGTON, November 3.—[Special.]—I know that there will be a safe democratic majority in the next house.

F. A. DEPUY, New York Times.

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND

Says Triumphant Democracy Is on the Way.

BOSTON, November 3.—The following letter has been received from Grover Cleveland, by William E. Russell, democratic candidate for governor:

NEW YORK, November 1.—William E. Russell, Cambridge, Mass.: In this last stage of your splendid canvass, I cannot refrain from expressing the hope that the people of the grand old commonwealth will testify their appreciation of your devotion to their interests by a decisive endorsement of your candidacy. The democracy of Massachusetts will be false to the professions and traditions of their party, and false to their duty to the country if in this critical hour they are guilty of the least indifference or inactivity. Triumphant democracy is on the way, and the Massachusetts contingent must be preserved to join the march with flying banners to victory.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

THEY WILL BE DEMOCRATS.

Mississippi Proposes to Show a Full Hand.

JACKSON, Miss., November 3.—[Special.]—The seven congressmen elected by Mississippi tomorrow will be democrats.

John Allen has no opposition in the first district, and in the fifth Pitts, who was nominated by the republicans, publicly declined the nomination, but it is understood has had tickets printed, and is trying quietly to organize the negroes, but it will be of no avail.

In the second district Kyle will win easily, as will Lomis in the fourth and Stockdale in the sixth.

In the seventh, Mathew's race against Hooker is a mere farce, and in the third or black district, many of the leading negroes are actively canvassing for General Catching. Hill is very unpopular, and Catching's majority will be very large.

TILLMAN WILL CARRY THE STATE.

South Carolina Will Not Permit White Supremacy to be Disturbed.

CHARLESTON, S. C., November 3.—[Special.] The situation tonight in the state looks more cheerful for the Tillman, or regular democratic ticket. At the democratic headquarters the committeemen say that they are sure of carrying the state by a big majority. The Haskellites also claim that they will carry the state. But everything depends on the negro vote. There is no change in the congressional outlook. The democrats are sure of electing four, and almost sure of five districts. Two are doubtful. In this city, the first district, the United States marshal is swearing in deputies by the hundreds for the election tomorrow.

A GEORGIAN THRILLS NEW YORK.

Hon. James A. Gray Addresses Five Thousand People.

NEW YORK, November 3.—[Special.]—Hon. James A. Gray, of Georgia, made a rousing democratic speech to an audience of 5,000 people at Thalia theater last night. The meeting was held under the auspices of Tammany hall. Frequently, during the address, the speaker was interrupted by deafening applause, and at its conclusion, as the band struck up Dixie, the audience went wild. Mr. Gray was followed by Congressmen Turner and Dunphy and Colonel Fellows.

A CLOSE DISTRICT IN ALABAMA.

The Democrats and Republicans Both Rallying Their Forces.

ANNISTON, Ala., November 3.—[Special.]—The democrats and republicans are both rallying their forces tonight for the congressional election tomorrow. The negro candidate, Logan, and his followers are speaking at the city courtroom. Democratic orators are appealing to thousands of voters in the open air, while the independent, Butler, is fighting single handed and alone. Today the democrats met and organized for work in tomorrow's election. They have hired all the hacks in the city and will see that no democrat fails to vote tomorrow. The cause of all this activity on the eve of the election, is the discovery of a republican plot to defeat Forney. The republican congressional committee has sent a good sum of money into this district to be used in the interest of Butler, who claims to be the farmers' alliance candidate, but who is in reality no one's but his own candidate. Logan, the negro, was then put out as a blind, and well it has worked, for the democrats have done almost nothing, and are now frightened at the prospect.

Senator Vance is Confident.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., November 3.—[Special.] A large and enthusiastic audience of farmers and town folks greeted Senator Vance here today. He made his last speech of the campaign in the courthouse, and many were unable to get inside the building. Senator Vance says the country is safe, and tomorrow democracy will get on top.

SETTLING AN OLD FEUD.

Two Alabama Families Gunning for Each Other.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., November 3.—A feud which has been brewing for some time near Cropwell, St. Clair county, broke out yesterday in earnest. Two prominent families are involved, and many lives will probably be lost before it is ended.

'Fonzo and Powell Hancock and George Norgher have been gunning for each other for some time. Yesterday morning Fonzo fired two shots at Norgher, but missed him. Later in the day Powell Hancock went to Norgher's house and the two men opened fire on each other. At the fourth shot Hancock fell dead. His brother and friends are now hunting Norgher with the intention of shooting him on sight.

Friends have also rallied around Norgher, and, as the principals are prominent men in their neighborhood, and have many friends, a bloody fight is expected.

A QUESTION SETTLED

As to the Rights of a Railroad to Make Special Arrangements.

WASHINGTON, November 3.—A decision of the interstate commerce commission, made by Bragg, commissioner, was announced today in the case of Capehart & Smith, owners of the steamer, R. T. Coles, on the Tennessee river, against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, Memphis and Charleston Railroad Company, East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad Company, and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad Company, involving the question of whether it is unjust discrimination or an unlawful preference for a railway company to make an arrangement for through billing and through rates with one steamboat line and refuse to do so with another competing line of steamboats, and it was decided that it was not unjust discrimination nor an unlawful preference for a railroad company to do this.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

NEW YORK, November 3.—Futures opened at six points' decline, afterward improved, then again declined, closing steady at a decline of seven to eight points on near, and five to six points on late months from Saturday's closing prices. The market today was very unsettled and somewhat irregular. The opening was lower, followed by some further decline, under the weak report from Liverpool, causing continued pressure from sellers. But just before the second call, on a slight recovery in the pool, one or two large "bear" operators took a notion to cover their contracts, or part of them, and the whole "ring" at once became alarmed. A scene of great excitement followed, and some tall climbing was done, and prices recovered six to eight points in a very few minutes. When this demand subsided, prices again fell off, but closed at some improvement on the lowest figures of the day. A killing frost was reported from the Mississippi valley. In most of the southern markets spots were 1-16@1/4c lower. Spot cotton here was 1/2c lower.

Going Home to Vote.

WASHINGTON November 3.—The president left Washington at 10:50 o'clock this morning over the Pennsylvania railroad for Indianapolis. He will arrive there tomorrow morning and will remain just long enough to cast his vote for the republican ticket and to make a short visit to Mr. and Mrs. McKee. He will leave Indianapolis in the evening and reach Washington on Wednesday afternoon.

Attorney General Miller and his daughter left here in company with the president. The former will also vote in Indianapolis tomorrow and expects to remain there several days.

Work on the Street Railway.

ALBANY, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—Work on the Albany street railway has been progressing during the past week. It makes but slow progress through the well beaten-down and clay-packed thoroughfares of Flint and Washington streets at present, but will be pushed rapidly forward when Broad street has been passed and a somewhat less traveled roadway is reached. The Artesian City railroad will commence work within a week or two, and ere the new year dawns Albany will add to her progressive appearance by two well-equipped street railways.

Challenging the Standard.

FINDLAY, O., November 3.—The Manhattan Oil Company, the strongest of the independent organizations in this field, this morning boldly challenged the Standard to battle by advancing the price of Buckeye oil from 30 to 32 cents. All the other independent companies followed suit, and the Standard will probably meet the advance, and a great oil war is now on. The excitement among producers and operators is already of an absorbing character.

Receivers for the Trust.

NEW YORK, November 3.—Judge Pratt has handed down a decision in the sugar trust case in which he says a receivership is proper and necessary, and that not only one, but two receivers should be appointed. The receivers to be appointed in the sugar trust will take possession of all properties and moneys of the trust. It is understood here that no person identified directly with the trust will be appointed.

The Electrical Execution Case.

WASHINGTON, November 3.—The United States supreme court today granted a motion to advance the case of Shibuga Jugiro, who is under sentence of death by means of electricity in New York state, and assigned the case for argument on the third Monday in November after the cases already set down for a hearing on that day.

The Monument to Noble.

ANNISTON, Ala., November 3.—[Special.]—The contract for erecting the Noble monument has been let to F. W. Durham, of Charlotte, N. C. It is to be of North Carolina granite, and will cost $5,000. The contract calls for the monument to be in place by the fourth of next July, when it will be unveiled. The monument is to the late Samuel Noble, the founder of Anniston, and one of the first iron workers in this section.

Increasing the Assessments.

ALBANY, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—The grand jury committee after a thorough investigation of the tax collector's books, have greatly increased the assessment of the property in Douglas county. A gain of nearly $400,000 in value over that of this year is stated as the result of their action.

The Schooner Is Lost.

SAVANNAH, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—The schooner Cinna, which left New York on September 24th for this port, has not yet arrived, and nothing has been heard from her. She was loaded with railroad iron for the South-Bound road.

Manual Training Adopted.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., November 3.—[Special.] Manual training was adopted this evening for the Charlotte graded school. Professor Charles C. Hook, of Wheeling, W. Va., will be instructor.

NEARER HOME WHERE BALLOTS FALL.

THE TWO DOUBTFUL DISTRICTS,

In Which the Followers of Various Candidates Will Meet.

THE NOMINEES CONSIDERED SAFE.

But the Ballot Box May Hold Some Surprises.

GENERAL GOSSIP ABOUT THE DAY.

The congressional race in Georgia today will be the most interesting in years.

But Georgia will send her usual ten democrats.

And ten good ones they will be.

There are practically no contests except in the seventh and ninth districts. There are republican candidates in all the districts except the sixth and eighth, but the democrats will get the votes.

Here are the candidates in each of the districts. Those marked * are members of the present house.

1—Rufus E. Lester*....D	6—James H. Blount*..D
M. J. Doyle.....R	7—R. W. Everett.....D
2—H. G. Turner*.....D	W. H. Felton.....D
Wm. Mattison.....R	Zach Hargrov.....R
3—Charles F. Crisp....D	8—Thomas G. Lawson.D
C. O. Gibson (c).....R	9—Thomas E. Winn...D
4—Charles T. Moses....D	Thaddeus Pickett..Ind
Walter Johnson.....R	S. A. Darnell.....R
5—L. F. Livingston....D	10—Thomas E. Watson.D
Will Haight.....R	J. E. Williams (c)....R

In the first district Mike Doyle's opposition to Colonel Lester is not at all serious, although Quay has sent $5,000 to be expended there.

In the second Mr. Turner's opponent comes from his own county—Brooks. He calls himself an alliance republican. The chances are he will get a 1,000 votes.

Judge Crisp's opponent, the negro Gibson, amounts to nothing.

In the fourth it is possible Johnson may carry one or two counties, but the district will roll up the usual democratic majority for Colonel Moses.

Will Haight has resorted to many political tricks to defeat the democratic nominee in the fifth, but Colonel Livingston's election is assured by the largest democratic vote the fifth has polled in years.

In the sixth Mr. Blount has no opposition.

In the seventh the contest is the most interesting, and will be the closest in the state. The friends of both Colonel Everett and Dr. Felton claim the election, but impartial observers say the district is too evenly divided to predict either way with any degree of certainty. Colonel Zack Hargroves, the republican candidate, is practically not in it.

No opposition has yet developed to Colonel Dawson in the eighth, although it is possible a republican candidate may be in the field today.

In the ninth the contest is next in interest to the seventh. S. A. Darnell, the republican candidate, has been well supplied with republican boodle from headquarters in Washington. Quay is aiding him to carry out the pledge, made to Harrison more than a year ago, that he would go to the fifty-second congress. Thaddeus Pickett, the "independent, after the order of a democrat," is, however, dividing the republican and independent vote with Darnell, and the chances favor Colonel Tom Winn's election by a good plurality. Indeed leading democrats of the district say Winn's election is a certainty.

Colonel Tom Watson has a colored opponent in the tenth, but there will be practically no race.

Thus it is quite certain Georgia is to have ten able democratic members to represent her in the fifty-second congress—ten men who will sustain the reputation of the state for the best all-around delegation in the house of representatives.

SPALDING WILL LEAD

As She Always Does in Democratic Need.

GRIFFIN, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—The democratic meeting at Patterson's hall tonight was an enthusiastic one. It was a rally of the old-fashioned order. Judge James P. Boynton led in the speeches, with one of his strongest pleas for democratic principles and the party nominee. Judge Beeks followed in a ten minutes talk. He fairly made the welkin ring for the nominee. Among other things in support of his arguments for Colonel Livingston, he quoted Joshua's language to the children of Israel, and applied it to the principles of the democratic party.

Judge Stewart made one of his best efforts for democratic supremacy, citing the audience to the iniquitous measures that had passed and were seeking to be passed in the national congress. He urged every democrat to go out and vote for Colonel Livingston tomorrow.

"Don't let personal preference," said Judge Stewart, "keep you away. Remember it is democracy, and not the man for which you are called on to vote. Rebuke the republican party and Miles Wimbish, who is managing the campaign in Spalding for Mr. Haight, by your votes. Keep up your reputation as the banner county in the district, by polling a full democratic vote."

Judge Stewart was frequently interrupted by rounds of applause. Hon. Frank Flynt and Judge R. T. Daniel also made strong appeals for full party vote. Every effort will be used by the leaders to secure a full vote. It may be safely stated that Colonel Livingston will carry the county by a handsome majority.

CLAYTON WILL DO HER DUTY,

And Haight Might as Well Retire Himself from the Race.

JONESBORO, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—Livingston will carry Clayton county tomorrow by an overwhelming majority. There will be very few republican ballots polled. Haight might as well count himself out of the race, as far as Clayton county is concerned. The polls open promptly at 6 o'clock in the morning.

THE SITUATION IN THE SEVENTH

A Great Deal Depends on the Way the Negroes Will Vote.

CEDARTOWN, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—The election for congressman comes off tomorrow, but no man at this time can tell who will represent the seventh district in the Fifty-second congress. The friends of both Everett and Felton claim the election, and it is no trouble to find persons who are ready to bet on either side winning. Several caucuses are to be held by the negroes tonight, and upon the result of the caucuses depends largely how the election will go. The white vote is nearly evenly divided in this county, with Everett in the majority, but should the negroes go back on Hargrove, the republican candidate, and vote solidly for Felton, then the result would be very doubtful, with the chances in favor of Felton receiving a majority in this (Polk) county.

DR. FELTON'S LAST SPEECH.

He Is Greeted By a Brass Band and a Big Crowd.

MARIETTA, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—Dr. Felton closed the campaign here this afternoon with a speech of over three hours in length, and it was pronounced by many to be one of the grandest efforts of his life.

The old man was eloquent, and has certainly lost but little of his former popularity here. From the beginning of his speech to the close he held the closest attention of the crowd, composed of every class of people, and at the end of each sentence shouts of deafening applause rent the air.

He was followed from the courthouse to his train by a band of music and a big crowd.

THE FOURTH DISTRICT

Is Certain to Give Hon. C. L. Moses a Good Majority.

VILLA RICA, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—Hon. Charles L. Moses closed the campaign for congress in this place tonight.

He spoke to large crowds at Whitesburg, this county, Saturday night, and at Bowden today, at 10 o'clock. He had an enthusiastic meeting at this place. He arrived here tonight and made a two-hours' speech to an enthusiastic audience in the academy.

This winds up the campaign for the old fourth for this time. Old Carroll is the banner democratic county of the district, and she will vote by 2,000 majority for Hon. C. L. Moses tomorrow.

The Romans Are Excited.

ROME, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—The political talk has been red-hot today on the streets of Rome. The Tribune's extra campaign edition stirred things up. It was a bombshell, unexpectedly, and the feeling aroused was wonderful. Editor Martin turned himself loose without much restraint. The politicians are on the streets, and the floating votes are being anchored fast. The republicans are working hard for the colored vote. Major Z. B. Hargroves, the republican nominee, speaks at the courthouse tonight.

Allan D. Candler Is Hopeful.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., November 3.—Editor Constitution: Winn will get at least 1,500 more votes than both Pickett and Darnell.

A. D. CANDLER.

THE BIG MILITARY DEMONSTRATION

Which Is to Usher In the Administration of Governor Jones.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., November 3.—[Special.]—Colonel Charles P. Jones, adjutant general of the state, some time since made application to the various railroads for rates for the state troops to this city, to be present at the inauguration of Colonel Thomas G. Jones as governor of Alabama. This morning Colonel Jones received from the Louisville and Nashville railroad the information that that system will furnish free transportation to all companies residing along its line to this city and return. The Louisville and Nashville will furnish special trains to bring the soldiers to this city, and the adjutant general has issued an order to the colonels of the various regiments, notifying them of the offer of the Louisville and Nashville. The state troops are so located that the Louisville and Nashville will handle nearly thirty of the companies composing the various regiments, leaving only about fourteen companies to be cared for by the other roads of the state.

HE FELL TO THE FLOOR

Because He Could Not Resist the Pressure of a Pistol Bullet.

ATHENS, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—The ready pistol got in its work yesterday near Lexington, and the result will be, in all probability, a dead negro. There was an old-fashioned entertainment among the negroes known as a hot supper, and a large number of the colored population was present. Also there were a few whites at the place. During the evening, Mr. Munch Wheless became involved in a difficulty with a negro named Willis Collins, and a few words were passed, when a sharp crack of a pistol broke the stillness of the night, and Collins fell to the floor with a groan. At last reports he had no chance whatever of recovery.

THE MEN SET FREE.

They are Not the Murderers of Mrs. Mobbs.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—The foreman employed by Mr. R. H. Couper at his ore mines near Taylorsville, went to Marietta and identified the two negroes in jail there as the ones whom he discharged on Wednesday about noon. The charge of murdering Mrs. Mobbs, near Stilesboro, on Wednesday morning, no longer rests upon them, an alibi being established. The negroes will be set at liberty at once.

The affair is still one of profound mystery, though it is claimed that some startling developments will soon be made.

Washington Jockey Club.

WASHINGTON, November 3.—First extra day Washington Jockey club, fall meeting. Weather cold and attendance small.

First race, five furlongs, Silence won, Tappahannock second, Cold Stream third. Time, 1:04.

Second race, six furlongs, Lowlander won, Kitty T. second, Pericles third. Time, 1:16¼.

Third race, selling, mile and a sixteenth, Larchmont won, Corticelli second, King Hazen third. Time, 1:52.

Fourth race, one mile, Belle D'Or won, Tanner second, Syracuse third. Time, 1:43.

Fifth race, free handicap, two miles, over eight hurdles, Zanglar won, Long Shot second, Grey Gum third. Time, 3:56¾.

A Big Crowd in Town.

LAGRANGE, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—The November term of Troup superior court convened today, Judge S. W. Harris presiding. The grand jury was sworn in, and Judge Harris delivered an able charge to them, after which the traverse jury was sworn in and the civil docket was taken up. There is a big crowd in town, being attracted by court proceedings.

The Piping Is On Hand.

ALBANY, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—The twelve-inch piping for the city artesian well has arrived and work will shortly commence upon it. One of the largest wells in the state is looked forward to.

SECRETARY NOBLE IS VERY ANGRY,

AND WRITES A LITTLE CARD,

In Which He Attempts to Score Governor Hill

FOR CRITICISING THE REPUBLICANS,

But the Governor Will Have His Answer Pat

FOR THE LITTLE SECRETARY.

WASHINGTON, November 3.—Secretary Noble today mailed the following letter to Governor Hill, of New York:

WASHINGTON, November 3, 1890.—Hon. David B. Hill, Governor of the State of New York—Sir: Your communication of the 31st ultimo was duly received. There had already been delivered to me a letter from the mayor of the city asking for a recount of its population by the United States census authorities. While you have added the weight of the governor's office to the complaint, you have failed to add to those already presented by the mayor a single suggestion of the slightest value. It was wholly unnecessary for you to remind me of the provisions of the constitution of the United States relating to the enumeration and apportionment of representatives or the electoral college, or that provision of the census law allowing amendments and recounts, all of this was very familiar law to me and your quotation of it might have been copied from my last opinion delivered to the mayor and which you state you had read in the newspapers. Neither did I need any exhortation upon the subject of fair apportionments, as an equal apportionment throughout the United States and the perfect freedom and equality of the individual elector is a reform to which I have given my earnest support, and which is worthy of that of every public officer and every individual citizen. Had you read the correspondence with the mayor, whose immediate concern this business has been, you would have found your topic already exhausted. Such an apportionment you may, however, be reminded would certainly and permanently promote the success of the party to which you incorrectly say all the enumerators of the city of New York belong.

It is much to be regretted that in the letter to me, when acting upon purely an official matter, you, as governor, should speak as a partisan and impute a corrupt purpose to the census enumerators, to secure party advantage by diminishing the count of the city of New York.

Your imputations against the enumerators and census work is so entirely gratuitous and unfounded as to be slanderous. As you should know what your abusive course could not tend to promote that fair and judicial consideration I have been disposed to give to the application of the mayor.

Your charge, imparting fraudulent motives to others, rather suggests that as your party thinks an increased population would inure to its advantage the count of police, taken as it has been since the police board of New York has been made partisan, needs the very closest scrutiny and analysis. The charges now being made in New York against the city government by the democrats are not of a kind to relieve any work done by it from the gravest suspicion of reckless partisanship.

Your accusations, heretofore confined to interviews and stump speeches, began even before the enumeration was announced. Some of the democratic newspapers in New York and elsewhere made the census enumerators work very different by exciting the prejudice of ignorance against it, and it is to be remarked that you, as early as the 1st of July last, made an address before the Hendricks club at Indianapolis, in which you bitterly assailed the census office and its work and asserted, without any knowledge whatever, the same evil purposes you now send to me officially. You then repeated newspaper criticisms and spoke of the "great army of inquisitors sent prying into your houses, asking impertinent questions, making false records," etc., and you did not fail to notice the possible effect of all this in raising popular distrust and disinclination to respond to the enumerators. You did not succeed in these efforts to any considerable degree, but you are largely responsible for any inaccuracies that may exist. You set the example by denouncing the law of congress, and thus suggested its violation by your less acute political followers.

Your early and continuous partisan assaults upon the census have had necessarily a motive which is easily discerned. That motive points to an unjust end which I certainly shall not promote. It is but just that there should be no delay in completing the census, that the purposes for which it is intended maybe accomplished.

You further asserted in the speech mentioned that, "It (the republican party) will not repudiate that even more plainly declared policy of breaking the power of the solid south in the presidential as well as congressional elections, by deliberately ignoring the vast increase of population in that section of the country during the last decade. The truth is that no complaint whatever has been received from any southern state as a state against the census, and the only serious claim of an erroneous diminution of population and representation by a state came from the republican state of Oregon. Out of 2,781 counties in all the states and territories there has been no complaint whatever, save from Multnomah county, in Oregon. There has not been a complaint from any southern city that has not been promptly and satisfactorily adjusted without a recount, save at Columbus, Ga., and there was found an increase of 1,128 only.

You seem to be against the census to be taken even by your own state, for you vetoed the bill passed by its legislature in 1885, and which was required by its constitution. It is reasonable to suppose that the patronage you seem to think so influential in political affairs would not have fallen into your hands, or, judging you by the standard you apply to others, your official action would have been just the opposite of what it was.

As I have demonstrated, the great body of people of the United States are content with the census, and are uninfluenced by partisan assaults such as yours. Sustained by their confidence, I shall proceed with the discharge of my official duties, in this and all other business coming before me, carefully and justly, correcting what I may be convinced is wrong, and fearlessly adhering to what I believe to be right.

I regret the necessity of addressing the chief magistrate of the leading state in the union in the terms I have employed, but I find my justification in the reckless intemperance of language you have seen fit to use—language which lacks as much in truth as it does in the dignity befitting your great office, which, in the past, has been filled by eminent men of both political parties of New York.

Upon the merits of the mayor's application, I shall reply to him. Yours, truly,

JOHN W. NOBLE, Secretary.

Game Is Plentiful.

ALBANY, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—Game was never known to be more plentiful throughout this section than at present. One hundred and fifty partridges were bagged in a day's shooting in Baker county by Messrs. W. S. Tarver and T. M. Nelson, and that with but a poor dog to assist them.

TELEGRAPH BREVITIES.

General Castelnau, aide-de-camp of Emperor Napoleon III, is dead.

Silver purchased by the treasury department yesterday amounted to 515,000 ounces.

The damage by fire to the steamship Leona, of the Mallory line, will not exceed $5,000. There were about 300 bales of cotton damaged.

At Kingston, Tenn., yesterday, John M. Webster, town marshal, was shot by James Edwards, whom the marshal was trying to arrest.

The Grand and Davenport hotels, in San Francisco, were destroyed by fire yesterday. There was no loss of life, but several very narrow escapes. Loss, $1,500,000.

The London police yesterday entered the Pall Mall gallery and seized a number of alleged obscene paintings illustrating Rabelais's works. The public has been daily crowding the gallery.

A petition from England to the governor general of Canada for executive clemency for Birchall has been received at Ottawa. It contains about three hundred signatures, mostly business men.

THE MAN'S VICTIM.

THE APPEARANCE OF A STRANGE COUPLE IN THE MOUNTAINS.

The Man Passes the Girl Off as His Own Daughter—His Brutal Treatment of Her—The Murder.

DEMOREST, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—One of the most horrible crimes ever committed in northeast Georgia was perpetrated Friday morning last, just at daybreak, upon a little girl about twelve years of age, and whose name is suppsed to be Minnie Bell, about eight or nine miles west of Cleveland, in White county.

THE HIRED MAN.

About two months ago, a man, who gave his name Charlie Jolly, and a little girl, walked up to Mr. Andy Adams's house, and the man wanted work. He was hired to help about the farm and look after cattle. The girl, he said, was his child; that her mother and several other children had died in Texas, and there were none left but himself and girl, and that he had come to this mountain fastness for his health.

HIDDEN IN THE MOUNTAINS.

A word about this particular location. This part of White county is mountainous in the extreme and exceedingly wild, and is so considered by even the sturdy mountaineers, who call it "backwoodsy"—just the place for an escaped convict to try to hide himself from the world.

The neighbors have had bad surmises in regard to the couple, though the girl said the man was her father. He is a brutish, mean looking man of about thirty-five or forty years of age, and weighs about 140 pounds. The girl was four feet eight inches tall and would weigh about seventy or eighty pounds, of dark, brown hair cropped short, dark blue eyes, and altogether was a very pretty child.

Mr. Adams furnished Jolly with $5, with which he bought provisions and household furniture, and commenced housekeeping. The child would often visit Mrs. Adams, who lived only a few hundred yards away, but always seemed very reticent about talking with any one, wearing a sickly, dried-up and pinched look.

A SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCE.

Mr. Adams had occasion for a hand and went to his house eight days ago just before daybreak, and on nearing the house he recognized the girl's voice, crying piteously: "For God's sake leave me alone; you are killing me." Mr. Adams hallowed, and Jolly jumped up and ran out of the door on the opposite side of the house and came around to Mr. Adams and asked him what he wanted. Mr. Adams told him, and he then said that he was sick and he could not go off to look for cattle. Since that time he has not done any work at all, but lay around the house and out in the woods continually until arrested. He had bought a gun and ammunition during this time, and carried the gun with him everywhere he went.

THE CHILD WAS DEAD.

Friday morning the Adams household was awakened by Jolly screaming at the top of his voice, and Mrs. Adams hastened to his assistance, when he told her that he and his daughter had been poisoned, and that the daughter was dead. Sure enough the child was dead, and had evidently been dead only a short time, for she was yet warm. He raved and tore his hair, and tried to get his neighbors to send for a doctor, but managed to get along without one. Saturday morning Judge E. J. Houston, who lives near Nacoochee, was up in that neighborhood, and seeing Jolly, inquired about the poisoning. Jolly said that if he did not get a doctor soon, immediately, he would die, though it had then been twenty-four hours since his daughter had died.

Judge Houston examined his pulse and looked him over carefully, and told him he was not sick at all, and that he wanted him to relate the story to him.

THE STORY HE TOLD.

Jloly said Mr. Andy Adams and Mr. Alf. Helton had given him a bottle of whisky the day before, and that he and the girl drank it, and were taken sick immediately.

Judge Houston, knowing both men to be of unimpeachable honor, then and there arrested Jolly as knowing something about the crime. When the sheriff arrived upon the scene, Jolly called Judge Houston and the sheriff to one side and said he was from the penitentiary of Mississippi, where he had been sentenced for ninety-nine years; his name was not Jolly, but Charles Johnson, and that the child was the daughter of a woman by the name of Bell, of Gaffney City, S. C., who had given the child to him last July, but ailed to say where he had been between that time and the time he came to White county.

AN ESCAPED CONVICT

THE PEOPLE READY TO LYNCH HIM.

By this time the coroner had his jury summoned and took up the case, and after a post mortem examination pronounced her poisoned at the hands of Charles Jolly, or Johnson. He was then taken to Cleveland for safe keeping, but just in time to save his neck, as the people of the neighborhood were preparing to lynch him, for the girl had not only been poisoned, but abused by brutal treatment, as she was simply horrible to behold.

The coroner's jury, after returning their verdict, went to their homes, and the undertaker took the body in charge to bury, but in dressing it, he found that she had her neck broken also. Your correspondent viewed the remains and felt of the neck, and can say positively that the neck was broken.

The only motive that can be attributed, and which, by the way, is a very good one, is that he wanted to get rid of the girl, so thought the best thing would be to put her out of the way, and possibly intended to kill others with that gun he carried so continuously.

SPEER FOR CLERK.

An Enthusiastic Meeting in His Behalf in Griffin.

GRIFFIN, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—An enthusiastic meeting of the prominent citizens of Griffin was held here today, for the purpose of endorsing Mr. E. P. Speer as a candidate for the clerkship of the lower house of the general assembly. A number of speeches were made and received with much evidence of good feeling. Mr. M. O. Bowdern, late clerk of the superior court, and more recently postmaster here under the democratic administration, then offered the following resolutions, which were passed without a dissenting voice amid much enthusiasm.

Resolved, That the people, not only of Griffin and Spalding county, but of all middle Georgia, receive with pleasure the announcement that Mr. E. P. Speer, until recently a most respected resident of this place, and still claiming citizenship, is a candidate for the clerkship of the Georgia house of representatives, and that they give to him their most hearty endorsement.

Resolved, That in our opinion no fitter nomination could be made, and that we recognize in Mr. Speer one of the best democrats and most honored citizens that this section has ever held, and we most earnestly commend his claims to the members of the legislature.

In the meeting were many people from the country and from adjoining counties and all were heartily in favor of the movement. No selection could please middle Georgia like this.

There Was No Insurance.

BOSTON, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—George A. Griffith's store and stock of goods were completely destroyed by fire about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. No cause can be given as to the origin of this fire. The building was a small, temporary sheet iron building on Main street. The building and stock of general merchandise were fully covered by insurance. This is the second time Mr. Griffith has been burned out this year. The first fire was a total loss. No insurance.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Bailey, of Gainesville, passed through the city yesterday on their return from New York city.

ROME'S GREAT FAIR

WILL BE IN FULL BLAST ON WEDNESDAY.

The North Georgia and Alabama Fair Will Throw Open Its Gates to Thousands of Delighted Visitors.

ROME, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—The North Georgia and Alabama Exposition opens next Wednesday, and everything is being done to make the exposition a hummer.

THE CONSTITUTION ascertained that all the space of the tremendous main building has been engaged. There will absolutely be a world of exhibits.

Alabama will have a magnificent display present. Several handsome exhibits of the state fair will be brought here. The Piedmont exposition will furnish interesting features, and the richest territory of Georgia will exhibit with lavish hand the wonders of her mineral wealth and agricultural opulence.

The display of mineral will be worth a visit south to see. Specimens from rich Bartow, from Polk and from old Floyd, from Bluffton, Alabama, from Piedmont, from the section around Cedar Bluff, and the Etna Furnace Company of Georgia will be piled high in beautiful assortments and classifications and in wonderful profusion.

The agricultural display will be first-rate. King cotton will be present in various growths of power—the prince and the gradual transition to the king.

But the most drawing card is the great race horse that will be present. The directors have been in direct communication with some of the most noted stables of Kentucky and of Tennessee. Handsome purses have been offered, and some of the greatest races that ever occurred in the south will be run in Rome.

The great pacing horse Hal Pointer will be here.

Two carloads of horses have already arrived.

One of the most interesting amusements of the exposition will be the marriage in mid-air. A celestial affair. One hundred dollars is the wedding present to be given to the happy couple who leave the earth and in the glories of the blue sky plight their troth for weal or for woe. Where will the minister be is a question not yet answered. Maybe they will use a telephone.

The buildings are all ready, and the bright colors of new paint add an attractive garb to everything.

The exposition managers are happy over the prospects, and all in all they count on the best exposition given in the south this year.

Excursion trains of northerners will arrive next Wednesday at the opening.

The North Georgia and Alabama Exposition for 1890 will be a hummer.

THEY WILL MEET AGAIN.

A Young Bride in Polk County Returns Home Alone.

CEDARTOWN, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—A wedding a little out of the usual way occurred in Cedartown this morning at the house of Rev. J. B. Robbins. About 10 o'clock this morning Miss Beulah Pittman, daughter of the late honored school commissioner of this county, Judge Pittman, and one of the most cultured and highly respected young ladies in this county, was driven into town from her home, about six miles in the country, by a handsome young man, who was a stranger to most of our people. Upon inquiry it was discovered that the stranger was Mr. William Murray, one of the foremost young men of Worth county, who had come away up in the mountains to find a bride. Upon arriving in town the couple made some effort to find Rev. C. K. Henderson, the Baptist minister here, but being unable to find him, they applied to the Rev. J. B. Robbins, who quickly and gracefully made them man and wife. Shortly after the marriage Mr. Murray took the train for his home in Worth, but his charming bride returned to her home in the country to comfort the members of the family who were burdened on account of the death of her father some few weeks ago. In a short while she will join her husband in Macon, and accompany him to his new home down near the sea.

PLAYING WITH DYNAMITE.

A Serious Accident to a Cedartown Gentleman.

CEDARTOWN, Ga., November 3.—[Special.] Mr. A. Huntington, the efficient and popular street commissioner of Cedartown, was very painfully if not permanently injured this morning by the explosion of dynamite. Early in the morning Mr. Huntington had placed a dynamite cartridge under a stump in a new street being opened up, for the purpose of blowing it up, but the cartridge failed to shoot.

Some hours afterwards Mr. Huntington took out the cartridge and threw the dynamite into the fire, thinking that it had all burned up. He then threw the cap into the fire and it exploded, and the concussion caused the dynamite, a small quantity of which had not yet burned up, to explode, throwing the ashes and hot cinders into Mr. Huntington's face with great violence, severely burning his face, especially upon the left side. He was felled to the ground by the concussion. The accident was witnessed by several persons who were near, and by these Mr. Huntington was taken to his house, where his wounds were dressed by Drs. England and Liddell. Dr. Chapman came in later. His physicians say that the injuries, while quite painful, are not serious, with the exception that possibly one of his eyes may give him a good deal of trouble.

ELECTED ANNIVERSARIAN.

An Alliancesman Secures Honors at the University.

ATHENS, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—It seems that the alliance is on top everywhere in Georgia.

One of the highest honors in the University of Georgia is the position of anniversarian of the literary societies. The Demosthenians elected their anniversarian to represent them in a speech to be delivered on February 19th in the college chapel, and Mr. Walker King was the recipient of this high honor.

Mr. King hails from Cave Spring, and is a full-fledged alliancesman and a supporter of Hon. R. W. Everett. He is a member of the senior class of the university, and will graduate next year. He reflects honor upon his society, the Demosthenian, and his fraternity, the Phi Delta Theta, of which orders he is an enthusiastic member. He will deliver the address next February.

DEATH OF DR. HOLMES.

One of the Best Known Physicians of Rome Passes Away.

ROME, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—Dr. G. W. Holmes, one of the most prominent and widely known physicians of Georgia, is dead. He died at Hot Springs, Ark. For some time his condition has been precarious. Blood poison resulted from a spider's bite, and the beneficent waters of Hot Springs were sought, but to no avail. Around his bedside several members of the family gathered, and the sad news was telegraphed to friends in Rome today. Dr. Holmes was known all over Georgia, and his friends number by the thousands. His exemplary life and splendid character endeared him to all who knew him. He was sixty-five years old. The funeral will not occur before Wednesday.

Wilkes' Court in Session.

WASHINGTON, Ga., November 3.—[Special.] The regular term of Wilkes superior court is in session, Judge Lumpkin presiding. The session will probobly last only a single day to get through with a little civil business, which cannot be put off. The lawyers have continued all important cases to the next term of court.

Broken Bones in Southwest Georgia.

ALBANY, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—The dengue, or broken bone fever, which has prevailed quite extensively throughout south Georgia for several weeks past, has been effectually broken up by Saturday's heavy frost.

THE DEADLY DRAUGHT

A PROMINENT MERCHANT FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED.

An Empty Laudanum Bottle and a Vial Half Filled with Morphine Indicate that He Committed Suicide.

Mr. W. J. Barfield, a merchant of Palmetto, Ga., was found dead in his room, at the St. James hotel, early yesterday morning.

His death was caused, as the coroner's jury found, by an overdose of morphine and laudanum.

Whether it was suicide or not, the investigation did not disclose.

Here are the details of the tragedy:

Sunday evening, Barfield came to the St. James and engaged a room for the night, and also stating that he would take breakfast in the morning.

He paid for his lodging and breakfast in advance, and asked to be called at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Barfield was apparently suffering from some nervous disorder, for when he attempted to sign his name on the register his hand trembled so that he was compelled to abandon the effort.

The landlady showed him his room, leaving him there.

About 12 o'clock that night in passing along the hall she noticed that the gas in his room was still burning.

She went in to turn it out, and in doing so aroused Barfield, who remarked that he had fallen asleep and forgotten to turn the light out.

At 6 o'clock the servant called the guest, as he had requested, but to his repeated callings there was no answer.

Suspicion was aroused, and the room was entered through a transom.

Barfield was found stone dead in his bed.

Sticking to the point of an open knife, which was lying on the mantelpiece, a cork was found. This led to further search, which resulted in the finding of an empty laudanum bottle in the alley below his window.

The bottle was labeled. Between the mattresses of the bed a half empty bottle of morphine was found. It was not labeled.

The laudanum bottle bore the stamp of a Palmetto druggist.

WHO HE WAS.

W. J. Barfield was a merchant of Palmetto. At least he was engaged in business there up to last Saturday, when he was closed up by his creditors.

This financial trouble, together with the demoralizing effects of a protracted spree, is assigned as the probable cause of his suicide, if suicide it was.

He was one of the best known and wealthiest men of Palmetto, and it is not thought that financial trouble alone could have induced him to take his own life, as he was worth considerable over and above his liabilities.

He was thirty-eight years of age, and leaves a wife and six children.

One dollar and sixty-nine cents was all the money found on his person. A paper figuring up his liabilities and assets was also in his pocket. These figures footed up $17,399.85 as his total assets above liabilities.

When he left Palmetto he carried a handgrip, but this nor any clue to it has been found. It is supposed to have contained a good deal of money.

Mr. Barfield carried $3,000 in life insurance.

The body was taken to Palmetto yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, after the coroner's inquest.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was that "the deceased came to his death by an overdose of morphine and laudanum, but whether taken with suicidal intent is not known."

VIEWS AND INTERVIEWS.

Adjutant General M. L. Bonham, of South Carolina, spent yesterday in Atlanta, en route to New Orleans.

"No, I did not leave the state to escape from voting," said he to a party of friends, "I was called to New Orleans on important business. Tillman will be elected governor tomorrow, but it will be a much closer contest than outsiders anticipate. Some bets have been made around Columbia on Haskell, and many of his warmest political friends claim he will be elected. It is claimed besides a large majority of the white voters of all the towns and cities, he will get the undivided negro vote. But there is a serious obstacle in the way of this. If the negroes went to the polls to vote for Haskell, in the Charleston and Port Royal districts, they would be quite certain to vote for the congressional candidates in these districts. Consequently Colonel Brawley and Colonel Elliott, the democratic candidates for congress in these districts, will exert all possible efforts, not contrary to any law, to prevent the negroes from voting at all. Thus you can see what the effect upon Mr. Haskell will be. It is this that will defeat him.

"In the congressional districts I can see no danger in any except the first, ninth and seventh. But Brawley, Stackhouse and Elliott are strong, and I believe they will be elected, unless the Haskell men exert supreme efforts to bring out the negro vote."

Captain John Hendrix, councilman from the fourth ward, has won the hearty commendation of all observers by his course since a member of that body. He is thorough and conservative, and has proved a useful member indeed.

* * *

I had a talk, yesterday, with that sterling actor and cleverest of good fellows—Milton Nobles, in which he called attention to what seems to be a peculiar fate hanging over state capitals.

"It is a funny thing," he said, "and one which, so far as I know, has never been explained, that the capital cities are theatrical graveyards. There is but one exception to that rule, so far as I have been able to learn, and that is Atlanta. Atlanta is the one exception we think of and speak of up north when talking about this matter. It is certainly a most remarkable fact that there is not another state capital which is worth anything as a show town. Take the whole list, from the little ones like Madison, Wis., to big ones like Harrisburg and Albany. I can't now think of any other exception, and if you can tell why this should be so you can tell much more than I can.

"A funny state of affairs, isn't it? And yet I have heard the same thing from others who keep their eyes open."

"Er-er-ketch-oo-oo!" sneezed a man who stood on the corner of Alabama and Whitehall.

"Aha," exclaimed a friend, passing by; "got a bad cold, eh?"

"Er-r-ket-choo-oo—yes—sh-h-sniff."

"Take two quinine pills tonight when you go to—"

"Better'n that," exclaimed another man, as he came to a halt; "have your wife to rub you with kero—"

"Kero nothing," said a third, who joined the other comforters; "just drink a cup of hot pepper tea—bilin' hot and plenty of pep—"

"Stuff!" muttered a bilious-looking man, edging his way up toward the afflicted man, "bathe your feet in hot water and put a porous plaster—"

"Oh, shucks! Let up there, you fellows," chuckled a red-nosed man, who joined the party. "I tell you what you do. Get you a pint of good Jamaica rum and go home and drink hot punches and sweat—"

"Er-er-ketch-oo! Ex-schnuse me, gentlemen," said the victim of advice and influenza, "I've got an engagement."

EDUCATING SOLDIERS.

ANOTHER INSTITUTION TO BE ESTABLISHED IN ATLANTA.

The Georgia Military Institute Is Now a Chartered Corporation—The Incorporators Ready for Business.

The Georgia Military Institute?

A charter for this new educational institution was granted in the superior court yesterday.

Those in charge of the enterprise are men of means and energy, and it is understood that the incorporation will proceed at once to carry out their plans as set forth in the petition.

On the 20th of September last Professor Charles M. Neel, Captain John Milledge, Major John A. Fitten and Judge R. L. Rodgers, of Fulton county; Messrs. A. L. Hartridge and Charles H. Olmstead, of Chatham county; and Mr. James A. Robertson, of Habersham county, petitioned the superior court of Fulton county for a charter incorporating a school to be known as "The Georgia Military Institute."

OBJECTS OF THE SCHOOL.

As set forth in the petition the objects of the school are the education, military training and discipline of young men who may desire a military education.

Further than this the incorporators wish to confer degrees on such matriculates of the school as shall graduate, under the rules and provisions prescribed for the government of the school, after they have been found qualified by a proper board of examiners to receive such degrees in all branches of arts, sciences and literature as may be taught in the school.

THE CAPITAL STOCK.

The capital stock of the corporation is fixed at $100,000, with power to increase to $200,000 when such an increase shall be deemed necessary and proper by the stockholders. This stock is divided into shares of $100, 10 per cent having been already paid in by the stockholders.

The institute is to be located in or near Atlanta, and will add another to the great educational institutions of this city, already famed for the number and variety of its schools and colleges.

AX AND HATCHET.

Two Negro Women Are Horribly Beaten by Their Husbands.

Ax and hatchet.

They did bloody work last night.

Mrs. Lizzie Holmes was seriously injured internally by being struck a terrible blow in the chest by a brutal husband.

Celia Wilson was probably fatally beaten over the head with a hatchet by Charlie Huff.

Her skull is fractured in three places, and besides a half dozen other wounds were inflicted upon her head and face by the merciless hatchet.

Here are the particulars of the Wilson affair.

About 9:30 o'clock Celia Wilson was brought to the drug store of Hayes Bros., on Decatur street, by another negro woman.

As soon as the Wilson woman, who was bleeding profusely from a half dozen or more wounds on the head, was in the hands of Dr. Hayes, the woman who brought her there left the place very suddenly.

It was afterwards learned that her name was Ama Walton. She and her husband were arrested and locked up, charged with being implicated in the affair.

The police were called in and the injured woman taken from the Hayes drug store to the hospital, where her wounds were attended to.

As stated, they were found to be very serious, and it is possible that the woman may die.

She was unconscious for some time, but late last night revived sufficiently to tell the officers that Charlie Huff had been her assailant.

Her room was searched, and there a bloody hatchet and a bloody apron were found by the officers.

The woman said Huff had used the hatchet in his murderous assault upon her, but was not able to go into the particulars of the bloody affair.

Huff has not so far been arrested, though thorough search was made for him last night.

And the Holmes affair. The story was told by a little negro boy, the wounded woman's child.

Holmes came home drunk and a quarrel arose between him and his wife.

He grabbed an ax and struck her a terrible blow on the chest with the blunt end of the weapon. He then left the house, which is on Thompson street, near Peters, and has not yet been caught.

The affair happened about midnight. Physicians were summoned by the police who were called to the scene, but the exact extent of the woman's injuries is not yet known.

That she was seriously hurt by the blow was plainly evident from her condition when discovered by the officers.

She was then suffering from internal hemorrhage, bleeding profusely from the mouth and nose, and up to an early hour this morning she had not become able to speak. An ugly wound was made on her breast.

Mrs. Huff was terribly beaten once before by her brutal husband.

IN THE OAKY WOODS,

Where Dr. W. A. Duncan Has Established a Home.

ALBANY, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—Dr. W. A. Duncan, secretary of the New York Chautauqua, has a lovely plantation home in the oaky woods in this county. It is an extensive estate, and still bears its ante-bellum name of "White Hill.' It was formerly one of the great cotton plantations of Colonel B. G. Lockett. The genial Chautauquan is very proud of his southern home, and claims to be "a Georgian." White Hill bears every mark of thrift and comfort, and is a contrast to the more or less neglected appearance of the neighboring plantations deserted by their former owners, and is the evolution of a cotton plantation into a modern southern estate directed by northern capital and tact.

USE POND'S EXTRACT FOR PILES

WHAT THE DOCTOR SAYS:

A PROMINENT NEW YORK PHYSICIAN SAYS.

"There is nothing better to relieve the PAIN and ITCHING, and CAUSE RETRACTION of PILES, than POND'S EXTRACT and POND'S EXTRACT OINTMENT. Either the fluid or the ointment has the astringent and soothing effect required, and is a very useful preparation. In fact for this purpose they are best used together."

WHAT THE PATIENT SAYS:

"For 40 years I have been an indescribable sufferer with the PILES. Every known remedy I have tried, all of which had a tendency to alleviate, not cure. First attacked with BLIND PILES, which annoyed me for years; BLEEDING PILES followed, which frequently confined me to the bed, leaving me unfit for business. Within a few days they have attacked me in full force, and that most excruciating of the hemorrhoid family, the ITCHING PILES, superseded both. Having become possessed of some POND'S EXTRACT, I applied it freely, undiluted. Had Heaven and Earth come together I would not have been more surprised. I never dreamed of a cure. Three times only have I resorted to POND'S EXTRACT, and the ITCHING PILES vanished as if by magic. I am fully convinced that it is the only known remedy in the wide world for the ITCHING PILES. My statement is unsolicited."—THOMAS S. MURPHY, Olmstedville, N. Y.

INSTRUCTION.

SOUTHERN SCHOOL OF SHORT-HAND
18 E. HUNTER ST., ATLANTA, GA.
We have a special teacher for our Typewriting Department. We teach everything necessary to a practical writer. Our pupils read their notes with ease. Our system (Graham's) is the most popular in the United States. We have had from one to three applications daily for competent stenographers. We have graduates located in all parts of the United States and Mexico. Demand for shorthand writers is increasing continuously. We have the most elegant and commodious quarters in the south. Classes day and night. We make no charge for obtaining positions for our pupils. Send for catalogue.
A. C. BRISCOE, Manager.
L. W. ARNOLD, Assistant Manager.
MISS ALICE TULLER, Principal Typewriting Department.

CRICHTON'S
Short-hand School
49 Whitehall St., Atlanta.
If you want to learn shorthand, the first thing to be done is to select a school; one that has good standing; remembering always, that idle boasts are easily made, but teaching shorthand is an art, a science, a business.
Examine carefully into the claims of teachers and select one as carefully as you would a physician.
Our catalogue will be sent free to any address, and if we do not prove that we are capable of meeting your requirements you have lost nothing whatever.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS

A MEETING AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH THIS AFTERNOON.

The Ladies Will Proceed to Complete the Arrangements for the Reception of the Many Delegates.

Faithful workers!
Without reward or the hope thereof—
Except in the glorious consciousness of duty well done.

The ladies of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union are still at work with that indomitable zeal that characterizes them in all their undertakings.

In the face of many discouragements they have moved steadily forward, winning triumphs where less determined spirits would have succumbed to failure.

They are determined to show the people of the United States that the women of Atlanta can safely boast that there is no such word as fail when the fair name of the city is at stake.

They have wrought wonders in the few short weeks which they have devoted to the noble work of providing for the entertainment of the 500 guests who are expected here in a few days.

THE FINAL ARRANGEMENTS.

But there is still much to be done ere the work is completed.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock the members of the local Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the First Baptist church to discuss the final arrangements for the entertaining of the visitors.

It is hoped that there will be a large attendance, as business of urgent importance is to be discuss.

Only a few days remain in which to complete the arrangements, as the convention meets on the 14th of November, and between now and then the ladies will have their hands full.

The people of Atlanta have responded quite generously to the frequent appeals of these workers who have assumed the responsibility of providing for this, the grandest entertainment in the history of the city or state.

A considerable sum of money has been raised, and a goodly number of homes have been tendered to the union for the entertainment of the visitors.

MORE HOMES REQUIRED.

But still more is needed.
More money—
More homes.

And not until these are secured will the ladies rest from their labors.

At least 200 more homes are needed, and it is hoped will be tendered by the good citizens of Atlanta, who must realize the magnitude of the undertaking in which the members of the local unions are engaged.

In a few instances it has been reported that householders who had promised to entertain delegates, desired to be relieved from their promises on account of other visitors expected.

The ladies of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union earnestly request that all such as these take into consideration the facts in the case, and instead of withdrawing, join hands with the committees and endeavor to swell the list until homes are secured for all the visitors.

The simplest means to cure a cold or cough is Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents.

A SPLENDID DRILL.

The Atlanta Artillery at the Exposition Saturday.

The Atlanta Artillery—
The crack cannoniers of the south.

Saturday they engaged in a drill on the Piedmont exposition grounds at the urgent request of the exposition managers.

It is unnecessary to say that the company acquitted itself with credit, as usual, and the officers and men were the recipients of many compliments, not only by the spectators but by the manages of the exposition.

Since they have purchased their natty new uniforms, the members of the company present a very showy and striking appearance on parade, and when it comes to drilling the Atlanta Artillery is able to hold its own with the finest in the land.

A Bright Little Girl Buried.

There was a sad death at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William McKenzie, No. 52 Capitol avenue, Sunday.

Their little seven-year-old daughter, Willie May, a bright and lovable child, died of scarlet fever.

The funeral occurred at the residence yesterday, and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Ryland, of the Methodist church in Marietta, and the tiny form was laid tenderly to rest in Wesview.

In the loss of their little daughter the grief of the sorrowing parents is shared by many who knew and loved the bright little girl who has passed beyond the river.

Commendable.

All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely avoided by the California Fig Syrup Company. A NEW FIRM.

Messrs. J. Stovall Smith and C. L. Stoney in Partnership.

A new drug firm.

Two men, young in years but old in the drug business.

Smith & Stoney is the firm name, and the partners are Mr. Stovall Smith, one of the most successful young business men of the city, who has been for a long while in the drug business on the corner of Whitehall and Mitchell streets; and Mr. C. L. Stoney, recently of the firm of Stoney & Gregory, corner of Peachtree and Marietta streets, one of the most popular druggists in the city.

These two young gentlemen will conduct a wholesale and retail business on the corner of Whitehall and Mitchell streets, where Mr. Smith has been so long.

They are remodeling and enlarging the building, and will add a beautiful front to the large two-story brick in which they are determined to build up a drug business equal to any in the city.

Both men are well known in Atlanta, and have hosts of friends and patrons who join in wishing abundant success to the new firm.

Change of life, backache, monthly irregularities, hot flashes, are cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine. Free samples at all druggists.

Always avoid harsh purgative pills. They first make you sick and then leave you constipated. Carter's Little Liver Pills regulate the bowels and make you well. Dose, one pill.

Authentic Living Testimonials from Distinguished Generals and Statesmen

In Favor of Hawkes' New Crystallized Lenses Over All Others.

Testimonials from the leading physicians in the United States, governers, senators, legislators, stockmen, men of note in all professions and in different branches of trade, bankers, mechanics, etc., can be given who have had their sight improved by their use.

These glasses have won the admiration of all who have used them. They can be worn any length of time at one sitting and give a marvelous clearness of vision. They stand unrivaled in their splendid reputation.

Mr. Hawkes not only has the best glasses, but carefully examines the eye of each patient, and gives indespensable advice as to the proper selection of glasses, having had an experience of eighteen years in this branch of science.

SPECTACLE FRAMES

Are an important part to be considered in the selection of spectacles. Some persons are very broad between the eyes, while others are quite narrow. It being necessary that the axis of the eye and that of the lenses should coincide, great care should be taken in their selection.

We give a few illustrations of perfect and imperfect fitting eye-glass and spectacle frames below.

Fig. 4.

Fig 5.

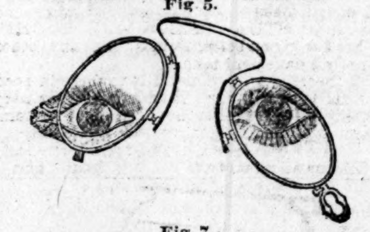

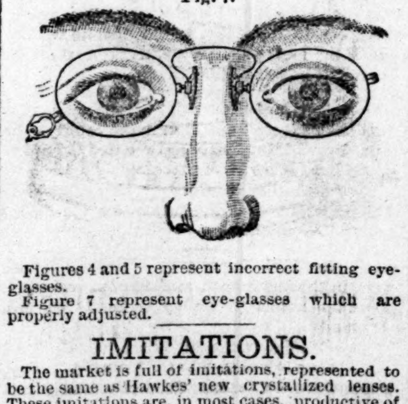

Fig. 7.

Figures 4 and 5 represent incorrect fitting eye-glasses.

IMITATIONS.

The market is full of imitations, represented to be the same as Hawkes' new crystallized lenses. These imitations are, in most cases, productive of positive injury to the eyes of the wearer. Many dealers will recommend inferior spectacles and eye-glasses, and those of lower price, which afford more profit to themselves.

Manufacturing Department.

We are now prepared to MAKE TO ORDER spectacles and eye-glasses of every description, which will be equal in finish and workmanship to any glasses made in the United States. Oculists' prescriptions will be filled with accuracy and dispatch.

EVERY PAIR WARRANTED.

HOUSEHOLD WORDS ALL OVER EUROPE.

VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA

"BEST & GOES FARTHEST."

Now that its manufacturers are drawing the attention of the American public to this first and, ever since its invention, the best of all cocoas, it will soon be appreciated here as well as elsewhere all over the world. All that the manufacturers request is simply one trial, or, still better, a comparative test with whatever other cocoa it may be; then VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA itself will convince every one of its great superiority. It is because of this superiority that the English paper Health, says: "Once tried, always used."

To avoid the evil effects of Tea and Coffee, use constantly VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA, which is a STRENGTHENER of the NERVES and a refreshing and nourishing beverage. [52

ATLANTA, GA., NOVEMBER 4, 1890.

Today's Elections.

Stand by the nominees!

Let this be the rallying cry of democrats in every district today.

The result of this election will decide the fate of McKinleyism and the force bill. It may shape and determine the presidential campaign of 1892.

The issues at stake are of vital importance, and they are just as much burning questions in the fifth congressional district as they are anywhere else. The democrats of the glorious old fifth must turn out in force this morning and roll up a rousing majority for Livingston.

Apathy and negligence may not defeat the nominee, but a reduced democratic majority will endanger his seat in the house. Within the past few days the republicans have resorted to some desperate tricks: Absurd charges have been circulated against Colonel Livingston, and though they have been conclusively shown to be false, and the work of forgers, there is danger that other expedients will be tried.

In some localities in the district tickets bearing the name of Hon. Charles D. Hill are being industriously circulated. Mr. Hill has promptly denounced this dodge, but it is possible that these tickets and others bearing the names of popular democrats will be used to confuse and complicate matters.

Colonel Livingston is a true and tried democrat. He is the choice of our farmers, the best element in the party, and the hot fight made upon him by the representatives of McKinleyism and the force bill policy should arouse all genuine democrats and cause them to give an overwhelming majority.

Remember that a vote for Livingston is a vote against the robber tariff and bayonet rule!

Let every democratic voter in the fifth turn out today!

Stand by the nominee, not only in this district, but in every other district in the state! In this fight Georgia expects every democrat to do his duty!

Mr. Blaine's Testimony.

Mr. Blaine, in his Canton speech, tried to make a point for the republicans from the prosperity following the tariff of 1846. It will be interesting to read the testimony which Mr. Blaine gave about this on another occasion—when he was writing history.

In his "Twenty Years in Congress," Mr. Blaine wrote:

> The whig victory of 1848 was not sufficiently decisive to warrant any attempt, even had there been a desire, to change the tariff. General Taylor had been elected without subscribing to a platform, or pledging himself to a specific measure, and he was therefore in a position to resist and reject appeals of the ordinary partisan character. Moreover, the tariff of 1846 was yielding abundant revenue, and the business of the country was in a flourishing condition at the time his administration was organized. Money became very abundant after 1849, large enterprises were undertaken, speculation was prevalent, and for a considerable period the prosperity of the country was general and apparently genuine. After 1852 the democratic party had almost undisputed possession of the government and had gradually become a free-trade party. The principles embodied in the tariff of 1846 seemed, for the time, to be so entirely vindicated and approved that resistance to it ceased, not only among the people, but among the protective economists and even among the manufacturers to a large extent. So general was this acquiescence that, in 1856, a protective tariff was not suggested or even hinted by any one of the three parties which presented presidential candidates.

The tariff of 1846 averaged only 23 per cent, and after ten years' trial the people were so well satisfied with the result of tariff on a revenue basis that, finding a surplus in the treasury, both parties agreed to a reduction, which left the average only 15.66 per cent.

What sort of an argument is that for the McKinley bill? It was written before Mr. Blaine knew there would be a McKinley bill—when, indeed, the platform of his own party looked toward tariff reform.

Plucky Editor.

There is one journalist in the country who does not propose to be run over by Postmaster General Wanamaker.

Last week The Leavenworth, Kansas, Times printed an account of a raffle at a church fair. The postmaster promptly confiscated the entire mail edition. Colonel Anthony, the editor, reprinted the story of the raffle in his next issue, with a double-leaded editorial insisting upon his right to publish the news. The postmaster was on the watch, and the paper was excluded from the mails.

Editor Anthony telegraphed the facts to Washington, and Wanamaker replied that the postmaster was simply carrying out the law. Then the nwspaper man got his blood up. He consulted able lawyers and filed a suit for $10,000 damages against the postmaster and his bondsmen. The petition declares that the rights given to an American citizen by the federal constitution, and to a resident of Kansas by the state constitution, to publish the news have been grossly violated by the postmaster. It is the opinion of the best lawyers in Leavenworth that the plaintiff has a good case and will recover damages.

The suit is one of great interest to all newspapers, and if it is successful similar suits will doubtless be brought all over the country. The Times is not contending for the right to advertise a raffle in advance. It simply claims that after the raffle has taken place it is legitimate to print the facts and give a list of the prizes and the winners. It remains to be seen whether the courts will side with the editor or with the postmaster general.

Godwin as a Liar.

The monumental liar of the press of the United States is Editor Godwin, of The New York Commercial Advertiser.

This man, with thin conscience and copper face, in his zeal for the success of a hybrid ticket in New York city, the object of which was to demoralize the stronghold of democracy, asserted that certain editorial utterances of the southern press had been supplied by a Tammany literary bureau. Speaking for itself, THE CONSTITUTION denounced the statement as false, and in order to test the sincerity of the man making the charge, a subscription of $10,000 was offered to the Grant fund as a forfeit if Godwin could prove what he said. The reply in The Commercial Advertiser yesterday evening reads:

> THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION defies us to prove that the editorials on the New York municipal contest were written for THE CONSTITUTION by a Tammany man in New York city.
>
> We cheerfully accept the challenge.
>
> The articles, to our certain knowledge, were written in New York by hired Tammany agents, at the suggestion of Assistant District Attorney McKenzie Semple, a Tammany man.
>
> If THE CONSTITUTION denies that its editorial, as published and in all its language, was written in New York city, it is welcome to its claim. The Commercial never said that it was. Very probably the article was rewritten in the office of THE CONSTITUTION. No editor who was not a fool would have done anything else. But it was written at Tammany's bidding, on the lines suggested by Tammany and for Tammany's purposes. Let THE CONSTITUTION make the best it can of this.

From the charge that THE CONSTITUTION printed a prepared editorial, Godwin wriggles off into the weaker charge that the article was re-written in this office. In making that statement the editor of The Commercial Advertiser writes himself down as a liar again. He wants his falsehood to stick long enough to affect some votes which may be cast today.

THE CONSTITUTION meets him promptly on this ground of his own choosing, and brands his amended charge as being equally false with the first. To prove what a liar Godwin is, THE CONSTITUTION renews the offer to give $10,000 to the Grant fund if he can convince any three reputable men of his own selection that THE CONSTITUTION ever printed an editorial at the bidding of Tammany or of its agents.

If moral reform in New York is represented by such liars as Godwin, God pity the article.

We Shall Win.

This will be a glorious day for democracy. It means that the people will repudiate the tyrannical methods of Tom Reed and his republican majority, the infamous force bill, the outrageous tariff monstrosity, known as the McKinley law, and the "convicted criminal" who stands at the head of the republican party.

Our dispatches this morning indicate a grand triumph for the democracy in the congressional elections. The majority in the next house is estimated at all the way from twenty to forty. Chairman Belden, of the republican committee, has given up the fight. He has closed the republican headquarters at Washington and concedes the next house to the democrats, although he claims Mr. Flower overestimates the majority, and all this in face of the fact that Mr. Belden and "Boss" Quay have distributed republican funds, "fried out" of the protected manufacturers, by the barrel.

The news of McKinley's probable defeat is almost too good to be true. Yet a grand democratic triumph is assured.

The democracy of the fifth will not fail to let this district share in the glorious victory.

Every Democrat Should Vote.

Today, in all parts of the country, the democrats ought to be united. We believe that they are. We believe that in every state and in every district they will make apparent their unanimous opposition to the principles and policies of the Quay party in a verdict that the republican leaders are not likely to forget.

Thus far the campaign that the democrats have made has been a campaign of the people, and it is this fact that gives us assurance of democratic success. The machinery of the party has seemed to be in a paralyzed condition. The national committee and the congressional committee, appointed for the purpose of giving life and activity to a campaign, have been very far from coming up to the full measure of their duty during the past few months.

But the people in all parts of the country, recognizing the importance of the result, and appreciating the vital characters of the issues at stake, have made the campaign a popular one, so that the paralysis of the recognized machinery of the party has not had any evil or untoward effect. All over the country the people have been aroused to the necessity of calling a halt to republican aggressions on the rights of the citizen and its attacks on democratic institutions. They have had their eyes opened to the efforts of the republican leaders to perpetuate the power of their party without regard to the will of the people, to disfranchise the whites of the south by placing the polling places of the state in control of partisan federal officials, and to place the farmers, the laboring men and the poor people of the country in the power of monopolies, trusts and combines.

Stimulated by the bold and aggressive methods of the republicans, led by an embezzler and a swindler—a man who has been denounced on the floor of the house by a member of his own party as a branded criminal—the people have determined to make a stand against corruption, against sectional and class legislation, against unnecessary and unjust taxation and against republican methods generally.

The people will file their protest against the Quay party today, and it is absolutely essential that the democrats of Georgia should join, to a man, in this protest. It is absolutely essential that every democratic voter in the fifth congressional district, and in every district in Georgia, should join with the democrats of the rest of the country in putting himself on record in opposition to the tendencies and purposes of the republican party.

Every democrat should vote today, and vote for the democratic nominee.

EVERY DEMOCRAT should vote today—that is to say, every democrat who desires to go on the records as opposing the force bill and the McKinley law.

THE LOTTERY law gives ignorant and partisan postmasters an opportunity of confiscating the edition of a newspaper on the most frivolous excuse.

CARL SCHURZ says there are times when it is best to be on both sides of politics. The mugmump editors are now engaged in lying on both sides.

DON CAMERON says he doesn't like to talk to newspaper reporters. These chaps are too plague-taked literal. Cameron prefers to write his own interviews, a scheme that is very popular with many gifted statesmen.

IT WAS a very cold day when Brother Blaine spoke in South Bend, Ind. Indeed, there was a fall of snow.

STANLEY is coming to America to see what the American people have in their pockets. He is to receive $2.000 for every lecture. This shows that Americans are wilder than the Africans.

DEMOCRATS WHO are opposed to the force bill and the McKinley law have an opportunity of showing it today by voting the straight democratic ticket.

TODAY IS a good day to stand by the nominees of the democratic party.

THE COLLEGES of the country are now run principally for the purpose of allowing rising young Americans to take a course of foot ball.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

THE EMPRESS FREDERICK has purchased the old residence of Martin Luther at Kronberg, and will turn it into a charitable institution in memory of her late husband.

EDWARD BELLAMY will shortly start a weekly in New York. It will be the organ of the nationalists, and will also be devoted to general literature.

TOM REED'S speeches continue to bristle with allusions to muskets, cannon and bayonets. It is difficult to see how such a bloodthirsty patriot kept out of the late war, but he did it, and did not furnish a substitute either.

THE NEW YORK SUN has the following ugly item about Stanley: "Nobody is particularly surprised," said the resident agent of the most important of the Congo importation companies yesterday, "at the manner in which Stanley has criticised the dead Barttelot. There has never been a man in public life who is so absolutely and utterly intolerant of contradiction or antagonism of any sort as Mr. Stanley. He is what might be called, in one sense, a sullen man. He broods, and he is as slow in making up his mind about trivial things as a Scotchman is in deciding a bargain. But there is no question about the good sense of his decision when he has finally arrived at it. I have had dealings with him for many years on business matters, and he has exhibited in every case the same characteristic of almost brutal resentment in the face of the slightest opposition. It seems to me that the lesser explorers of the world are mistaken in their position that Stanley's status as a discoverer or a general will be changed when the reminiscences of his lieutenants are published. Stanley is a leader of iron will, and, naturally, he has borne heavily on his subordinates. But he has the grit and pluck of a hero, and he has demonstrated it so many times that no amount of criticism will ever be able to rob him of his fame. Stanley says that Barttelot was negligent in performing his duty. That was the greatest crime of which he could be guilty, from Stanley's standpoint, and hence his measureless resentment."

WHEN JOHN ROCHE, a London policeman, was buried the other day, seven young women appeared at the funeral, and it turned out that they were all engaged to be married to the dead man. One of the women had been engaged to him fourteen years.

OPIE P. READ'S paper, The Arkansaw Traveler, has fallen into the hands of the sheriff to satisfy a $1,500 judgment. Sooner or later most of our humorous papers go that way. With a very few exceptions, they enjoy a brief season of popularity, and then are supplanted by new favorites. The professional humorist has a hard road to travel.

EDITORS AND SO FORTH.

The season bids fair to be a prosperous one to the Georgia weekly editors. They are enarging and spreading out wonderfully.

The Clayton County Herald is new, but newsy.

Editor Peacock, of The Dublin Post, is responsible for the following seasonable rhyme:

> Store is vacant, sign "To Let!"
> Former tenant had to get.
> He in sorrow sits and sighs,
> 'Cause he didn't advertise.

Will T. Bacon, a Lexington boy and formerly an attache of The Echo, has accepted the position of night editor on The Athens Banner.

"We will make no change in our paper this year," writes a Georgia editor. "We need some change, but it is a scarce article in this neighborhood."

The Oglethorpe Echo is cheerful and happy. Editor Shackleford is taking in new subscribers at the rate of twenty a day.

The Bainbridge Democrat is as large and lively as ever. The issue of last week was especially bright and newsy.

> DEATH DOES NOT SILENCE HIM.
> Here lies an editor at rest—
> The poorest of his tribe;
> He needs a marble headstone—
> "Now is the time to subscribe?"

The Cedartown Standard seems to grow at the rate of a column a week. It is now one of the largest of Georgia weeklies.

Covington Enterprise: It gave us pleasure to see Mr. Edward W. Barrett, of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, in our office a few days ago. As the Washington correspondent of Georgia's pet daily he has made a reputation that any newspaper man would have a right to feel proud of. "E. W. B." is one of the best news gatherers and most forcible writers to be found in the union. He is social and companionable, and delights to please and make happy all with whom he comes in contact. He has a clear head, active brain and a warm heart. He promised to try and come to Covington again soon, and get Hon. W. A. Hemphill to accompany him, and in case they come, a quail hunt and game supper will be arranged for their especial benefit. The latch-string always swings from the outside door when our friends chance to come this way. Anybody connected with THE CONSTITUTION can count on a welcome in Newton county.

A DIRTY DODGE.

THE REPUBLICANS CIRCULATING A BOGUS ANNOUNCEMENT.

Hon. Charles D. Hill Denounces the Unwarranted Use of His Name in the Congressional Contest.

Here is a dirty dodge.

The very latest and meanest of all!

But is only another example of the means to which the republicans are capable of resorting to secure their ends.

It was only discovered yesterday, and it is in the shape of a bogus ballot which has been distributed throughout the fifth congressional district, and reads thus:

> DEMOCRATIC TICKET.
>
> FOR REPRESENTATIVE
> IN THE FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE > FIFTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT OF GEORGIA,
>
> CHARLES D. HILL,
> Of Fulton County, Georgia.

To all who know anything of the gentleman whose name appears on the ticket, the falsity of the thing is openly apparent.

THE SON OF HIS FATHER.

Hon. Charles D. Hill, solicitor general of Fulton superior court, is the son of his father. His father was the illustrious Benjamin Harvey Hill, one of the noblest champions of southern rights that Georgia or the south ever knew. The son is as true a democrat in principle and practice as lives today. None but political schemers of the most unprincipled cunning would have dared to use the name of C. D. Hill in such a manner.

Trusting to their security from detection, and to the high standing and popularity of the man whose name they chose to use in that connection, these designing men have evidently counted on detracting from the vote of the democratic party by diverting it from the regular democratic nominee in this wise.

THEY WERE SHREWD CALCULATORS

in waiting until the last moment to scatter these tickets in the rural districts, so as to catch the unwary voters, and to lure the possibly disaffected with such an inviting bait.

But they have miscalculated. In the most emphatic terms possible Mr. Hill has denounced the miserable trick, and this attempt to create a division will only arouse the democrats of the district to a keener appreciation of the contemptible methods of which the republican party is capable, and will bring out many a voter who might have remained indifferent in the confidence of an easy victory.

WHAT MR. HILL SAYS.

Mr. Hill was standing in the Kimball yesterday when a gentleman walked up and presented him with the ticket for the congressional election bearing his name for congress.

"How is this, Charlie?" he asked.

"It is simply a malicious and unwarranted use of my name," said Mr. Hill, as he glanced over the ticket. "I can't imagine who got this thing out unless it was done in the interest of the republican candidate. It has the ear marks of a dirty republican trick. Again it might have been gotten out by a few recalcitrant or apathetic democrats, who want an excuse for voting against the regular democratic nominee. No, it must be a republican trick, no democrat would be guilty of such."

Then turning to a CONSTITUTION reporter, Mr. Hill said, "I wish you would state what I have said, and you can't make it too strong. Say it was unwarranted and malicious. I am not nor never have been an aspirant to that high office, and were my ambitions and desires to lead me in that direction, I should submit my case to the democratic party and abide the consequences, just as other good and true men have done; and the last thing I would dream of doing would be to countenance the use of my name in any such an underhanded, treacherous manner. The more I think of it, the more I am convinced that it is but another sample of the dirty methods of republican tricksters, who will stop at nothing in their efforts to gain an ascendancy in Georgia politics."

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP.

A prominent figure in the rotunda of the Kimball house was Judge Hines, who has been put forward by the people of his county for the senatorship. Judge Hines's face is interesting, both because of the interest attached to his canvass and because of the race which it opens in the middle circuit. No less than four candidates have appeared for the bench which Judge Hines has so ably occupied, and two of them are already on the ground.

One is the Hon. Roger Gamble, who was both prominent and popular in the last house of representatives. He is hard at work, and will doubtless put in some good licks before the election comes off.

Serene and placid is the air of his competitor, Mr. Daley, as he stood in the rotunda yesterday discussing the situation. This is Mr. Daley's first race for office and he is taking it quietly.

Everybody knows Roger Gamble about the corridors. There is no need to describe him. Mr. Daley, not having been in the legislature, has not been so often seen in Atlanta. He is a quiet, genial gentleman of thoughtful air, and comes handsomely endorsed by the bar of his circuit.

Another quiet, serene-looking man, who looks toward the bench, is Mr. Worley, of Elbert. He is a compacly built man of medium height and pleasant face. He wears a heavy black mustache and under his heavy brow and massive forehead there is a bright eye that gives his countenance a genial light and intelligent expression.

He has lots of competition in the Hon. Seaborn Reese, Hamp McWhorter, and Judge Gibson. Colonel Reese has the prestige of three terms in congress from the famous district that sent Judge Emory Speer some years ago, and his name carries weight. Mr. McWhorter is a well-known and popular legal light, and has an astonishing facility in getting about among the members. The Northern circuit cannot fare badly with so much good timber in the race.

A little flurry was created by the appearance of Judge Jim Brown and his nephew, Mr. Lige Brown, in the rotunda for a few minutes. As the judge was not known to be a candidate for anything his movements excited a good deal of curiosity. Inquiry developed no special significance, and if Judge Brown seeks anything from this legislature for himself or friends it did not leak out.

Judge Brown's successor, Judge Gober, was also on hand. His circuit forms a part of the ninth congressional district and he has a fair opportunity to judge of the race there.

"I am satisfied that Tom Winn will be elected by a good majority over both his competitors," said Judge Gober. When it came to the seventh district, he looked grave and was silent, except in confidential expressions to friends.

Speaking of the seventh, Mr. Foute, of Bartow, who sat by the side of Dr. Felton in the last house, came in during the afternoon.

"It's going to be very close in the seventh," said he. "Dr. Felton spoke in Marietta today and expects to carry Cobb. He will speak again somewhere tonight."

Senator C. B. Vincent, of the forty-first, was on hand most of the day. "There was hardly any need for us to be here today," said he, "and it is very hard to be here without promising somebody. You have to be dumb to keep from it."

Mr. Whatley, one of the representatives from Coweta, was about, mixing with the other members. He is a farmer to heart, and was complaining that his cotton had to be picked, his potatoes and his goobers had to be grabbled, and none of it could be done unti the legislature got through saving the state. He thought there was no question about the election of Moses to congress in the fourth district, "And let me tell you," said he, "that young man will come to the front when he gets there."

Senator Joe Terrell, of Meriweather, who beat Snelson in one of the hardest fought campaigns in the history of the district, was omnipresent in the corridors and rotunda of the Kimball house.

"I fear," said he, in reply to a question, "that Meriweather will be against Mr. Moses by something like 300 majority. You see Meriweather has about twenty-five more negro voters than whites. Then again one of the Meriweather alliances has instructed for Johnson."

Rev. R. H. Jackson disputed the report that Heard county was doubtful in the congressional race, and said that it would, without doubt, give a safe majority for Moses.

Hon. W. Y. Atkinson, who again represents Coweta, is here working for a kinsman, Mr. Pope, who is a candidate for one of the judgeships.

"Buck" Candler is now Senator Candler. He is so well known by the old familiar nickname that it seems hard to dispense with it, but those who know him feel sure that he will ably represent his district in the upper house. He comes loaded with legislation which he proposes to introduce, but has nothing to say about it for the present. Having fought all over the ninth district for his brother, Congressman Allen D. Candler, he is well posted on politics there. "Winn is sure of election," said he. "I don't know of a man who voted for Candler who will not vote for him. He will have a safe majority over both his competitors."

Ex-Senator Julian, who was chairman of the committee on temperance, and as a member of the committee on public buildings brought in the bill under which the old capitol was sold, is now a candidate for messenger of the senate. His genial face illumined the rotunda all the afternoon, and he made many friends among the new members.

Ex-Senator Jones is also here, a candidate for Colonel J. R. Towers's position—principal keeper of the penitentiary. He was a favorite in the last senate and makes friends wherever he goes.

Colonel Towers was on hand too, and his presence always counts. He has served the state faithfully for a long time and there is no man who can lay aught to his charge.

These two candidates are old acquaintances and friends, and the competition does not interrupt this pleasant relation. They met in the rotunda in the most friendly manner and bantered each other good-naturedly.

Mr. Cagle, of Pickens, is a fine specimen of the mountain men. He comes from a country where the scenery enchants, and the air exhilarates and inspires. To all that region, so rich in timber, marble and other minerals, the Marietta and North Georgia railroad is a bonanza. In this connection Mr. Cagle spoke with enthusiasm of the outlook for north Georgia.

One of the old members, who is never to be forgotten, is ex-Senator Strather, the famous chairman of the committee on the state of the republic. He is the same gentleman who got into some slight trouble by instituting a comparison between the male and female intellects. Now happily all those troubles are over, and his overflowing goodness of heart has commended him to the favor of the ladies, who for a while were disposed to look upon him with indignation.

Everybody was asking for Bill Harris and wondering where he was. In his absence the Hon. Mark Hardin held the fort, while Mr. Eugene Speer made himself agreeable to all comers.

Hon. E. W. Martin and Colonel John B. Goodwin—Jim O'Neill, too—were busy meeting the legislators yesterday, and chatting with the politicians.

Bennett, of Gwinnett, had just as many friends as he could shake hands with between supper time and bed time—and hard at work the whole time, too.

Hon. T. W. M. Brown, of Haralson, is one of the old members to come back.

His endorsement was well won by a strong, clear record in the last house.

Hon. R. B. Mobley, of Harris, is still another of the old members to come back.

No member of the last house did more work, or better work, for his county and state.

Hon. S. Meeks, of Johnson, was another of the legislative arrivals yesterday.

He reports good crops and a general prosperity in his section.

And Twitty, of Jackson!

He was a member of the last house, and his being in the race again meant his certain election, for his record was there to fall back upon.

It is one of which his county may be proud.

And aside from the record, too, he will be one of the most popular members of the next house—as he was of the last.

Dan Davis, of Lumpkin, is the man that beat the next strongest man in the county—the Hon. Frank Hall, who represented Lumpkin in the last house.

He is a brother of Coroner Ben Davis, of Fulton, which is a guarantee for his being clever and popular.

Warner Hill—everybody remembers his work in the last house; and nearly everybody about the hotels yesterday remembered him personally

His colleague in the last house was Snelson.

This time it is Dr. N. C. Campbell, than whom there is no more useful or valuable citizen in the county.

Hon. J. H. Mitchell, of Pike, is another of the old members returned.

A practical endorsement, his coming back, of a clear, good record.

Scruggs, of Rabun, was one of the busiest men to be found anywhere.

He kept up with the members as they came in, and his count for the speakership kept him in perpetual good humor.

"It's Howell, certain," he said last night "He will be elected on the first ballot."

Griffin, of Twiggs, comes back to the house; and nobody here had more friends on hand to welcome him yesterday.

The friends of Colonel A. S. Cutts are requested to meet at room 208, Kimball house, this morning at 10 o'clock.

WARD MEETINGS.

AND THEN DELEGATES TO A [illegible] MITTEE OF ONE HUNDRED.

Fifteen from Each Ward, and Ten from the City at Large—That Is the Way Candidates Will Be Chosen.

City politics have assumed definite form. Last night the first official steps of the campaign were taken by the city executive committee.

The committee met pursuant to Chairman Cabaniss's call in room 102 at the Kimball.

A committee of one hundred, ten from the city at large and fifteen from each ward, with fifteen from the respective wards, to be selected through ward meetings, to name the nominees for mayor, two aldermen and six councilmen.

Such was the plan adopted by the committee.

The ward meetings are to be held on Tuesday, November 11, and the delegates elected by these meetings will meet in a general committee the following Thursday evening at the courthouse to nominate candidates.

The ten delegates from the city at large, appointed by last night's meeting of the executive committee, are as follows:

Jacob Elsas, first ward.
Paul Romare, second ward.
J. J. Falvey, third ward.
John A. Miller, fourth ward.
J. W. English, fifth ward.
Hoke Smith, sixth ward.
E. H. Thornton.
Mike Maher.
R. F. Maddox.
J. P. McVey.

These gentlemen will be notified of the selection today. It is taken for granted that they will serve.

PRESENT AT THE MEETING.

When Chairman Cabaniss called the meeting to order the following gentlemen of the committee were present:

Messrs Weinmeister, Ketner, Murphy, Hirsch, Thompson, Kiser, Adair, Irwin, Haas, Broyles, Johnson, Falvey, Cabaniss, Stockdell and Smith.

Messrs. Campbell, Barnes, Brandon and Draper were the only absentees.

The principal work of the meeting was the passage of a resolution prepared by Mr. Cabaniss.

Upon the calling of the meeting to order this resolution was introduced and read by Mr. Thompson.

As finally amended, it was as follows:

THE RESOLUTION.

Resolved, That on Tuesday evening, November 11 h, the voters of each ward in the city be requested to assemble in some central locality in each ward at 7:30 o'clock, and select, by ballot, representatives to attend as members of a citizens' committee, which shall assemble on Thursday evening, November 13th, in the superior court room, at 7:30 o'clock, the fifteen receiving the highest vote to be declared elected delegates.

Resolved, That the two members of this city executive committee select the meeting places in their respective wards for the meetings on the 11th instant, and that one of them call the meeting to order for organization.

Resolved, further, That this city executive committee proceed now to select ten delegates from the city at large to meet with the delegation of fifteen from each ward and form a committee of one hundred.

Resolved, further, That the committee of one hundred thus chosen, meet in the superior court room at 7:30 o'clock, Thursday evening, November 13th, and proceed to select candidates for the positions of mayor and two aldermen and six councilmen.

Resolved, That this committee of one hundred be directed to select a new executive committee of two from each ward and six from the city at large to serve for one year, or until their successors are chosen.

There was considerable discussion over the adoption and amendments to the original resolution, but it was all in the friendliest and most harmonious spirit.

Several members of the committee favored having the time at which the balloting in the ward meetings should close incorporated in the resolution, but this was finally left open.

The place of holding the ward meetings will be decided today, or, as soon as possible, by the members of the executive committee from the respective wards.

When the places are selected they will be announced at once in THE CONSTITUTION.

By the plan adopted by the committee, no candidates are recnized until the assembling of the committee of one hundred at the courthouse.

The ward meetings are to called by membesrs of the central executive committee, and the delegates will be elected by ballot.

It is believed that the plan will be satisfactory to all.

BLACK MARIA MASHED Up.

Five Prisoners Escape and One, a Woman, Badly Hurt.

The Black Maria was mashed up by a Metropolitan dummy train last night about 9 o'clock.

The wagon was literally knocked to flinders.

In the collision, Clara Moore, a prisoner, was considerably bruised up and five other prisoners, all men, made their escape.

All were under sentence, the wagon being on its way to the stockade with them when the accident happened.

The collision occurred on East Fair street, opposite the cemetery.

Mr. Lanford was driving the wagon at the time. It was the old Black Maria, the one used to haul the prisoners to and from the stockade.

The wheel had come off the wagon just as it was crossing the dummy track. Mr. Lanford tried to prevent the approaching dummy from running upon the broken-down vehicle, but somehow his precautions were unavailing.

When the dummy came along the engineer could not stop it in time to prevent the collision, the down grade at that point being heavy.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

A Card from Mr. Chaney.

EDITOR CONSTITUTION: In your excellent report of my sermon in this morning's paper, for which, as for the kindly words accompanying it, I heartily thank you, I am reported saying that the Young Men's library and the reform school for youthful criminals are inert. Now, the library is very far from inert, and I cannot let any other impression go forth from me. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Dumb Animals and the Reform School were the two sleeping agencies which I referred to.

The statement that the Church of Our Father was named from him who went about doing good would, also, need modifying to suit a Unitarian sermon. But I am less concerned about that. The report in the main was true, and I wish to thank the reporter rather than to correct him. I am also glad of this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation of the courtesies and hospitality of the press of Atlanta towards myself and my utterances since I have been here. Always truly yours,

GEORGE LEONARD CHANEY.

Bishop Beckwith's Illness.

EDITOR CONSTITUTION: The account of Bishop Beckwith's illness in yesterday's CONSTITUTION is calculated to unduly alarm his friends, and I write this to correct the impression that article conveys.

In the first place the trouble is in no wise a "malignant abscess," but a simple one resulting from an abscess at the root of a diseased tooth. This abscess involves the whole of one side of his face, and has caused him very great suffering.

In the next place his condition is not at all critical; on the contrary he has been for four days on the high road to recovery, and I hope he will soon be able to resume his work. Very truly,

HUNTER P. COOPER, M. D.

PEOPLE HERE AND THERE.

JACKSON.—Rev. H. Melville Jackson, of Richmond, Va., has been elected assistant bishop for the Episcopal diocese of Alabama.

COLQUITT.—Senator Colquitt, of Georgia, was one of the principal speakers at the anniversary meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association of Reading, Pa., held on Thursday evening.

WISE.—Ex-Congressman John S. Wise, of New York, formerly of Richmond, Va., has accepted an invitation to deliver the annual address before the New York State Bar Association on January 17.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

MR. CALVIN WITHDRAWS IN MR. FLEMING'S FAVOR.

MR. HOWELL'S SPLENDID PROSPECTS.

The Hotels Are Filled with Members of the Legislature and Their Friends—Chats with Them and About Them.

Hon. M. V. Calvin has withdrawn from the speakership contest.

Mr. Calvin withdraws in favor of his colleague, Hon. W. H. Fleming. It has been known for some days by the friends of these gentlemen that they would not antagonize each other in the race for the speakership, and when Mr. Calvin reached the city last night a conference was held with the result above stated. The action of Mr. Calvin was highly appreciated by Mr. Fleming and his friends.

The speakership race was the all-absorbing topic of talk of yesterday, and the hotel lobbies were crowded with people talking about it.

The house of representatives meets at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, and will be called to order by the clerk.

The first thing to occupy its attention is the election of speaker. After that comes the election of other officers and the completion of the organization of the house.

And so, in all the talk, the speakership comes first.

The friends of Clark Howell are enthusiastic over his chances. Last night, at his headquarters, room 102, at the Kimball, a rousing meeting of Mr. Howell's Atlanta friends was held. Between fifty and one hundred gentlemen from Atlanta gathered there to discuss the situation, and to hear the news from different sections of the state.

Probably the most noticeable feature of the work about the corridors yesterday was the enthusiasm for Mr. Howell displayed by the northeast Georgia members—especially those in the section tributary to the Marietta and North Georgia road. Northeast Georgia is here solid for Mr. Howell, and the members from that section predict his election by an overwhelming majority.

Ex-Senator R. H. Jackson, the able representative from Heard, whose name has been freely used in connection with the speakership, has never announced his candidacy and will not, it is said, enter the race.

With Mr. Calvin out, that leaves Messrs. Howell, Fleming, Berner and Cutts as active candidates.

Mr. Fleming has been here since Sunday; Colonel Cutts came on Saturday, and established headquarters in room 208 at the Kimball; Mr. Berner did not put in an appearance until last night, and he at once made the Kimball his headquarters.

Of course there is some talk about the senatorship. Governor Gordon and Judge J. K. Hines spent most of the day with the legislators, but, as if by common consent, the senatorship question is kept in the background and will not come up until after the speakership is settled.

Then there is the presidency of the senate. Captain Tom Cabaniss registered his name just below that of Colonel Berner last night, and was at once besieged by friends.

Senator Walker, of the twelfth, another decidedly active candidate, was on hand during the day, renewing old acquaintances and making new ones.

Joe Terrell, another presidential possibility, hadn't made up his mind whether to enter the race or not. Senator Mitchell, of Thomas, is understood to be an active candidate; and then there's Senator Marcus Beck, who may be a candidate and who may not. There is withal a great deal of uncertainty about the outcome of this contest.

Wednesday will settle this, too.

ABOUT THE CORRIDORS.

Gossip With Distinguished Gentlemen and About Them.

Doorkeeper Allred—as integral a part of the senate surrounding as the door itself, and has been for a generation or more. It would hardly look natural to see him not there. He was busy with his old frinds, and busy making new ones amongst the senators all day yesterday.

Another candidate for the position of senate doorkeeper is Mr. I. P. Stephens, of Heard county.

He is a perfect physical type, with a commanding figure, and as genial and attractive a face as could be found anywhere.

He is quite prominent in state alliance affairs, too, and will make a strong race.

Irwin county furnishes two candidates for messenger—one for the house and one for the senate.

Mr. R. L. Plank is making a lively canvass amongst the senators and getting in some good work.

Mr. D. A. McInnis, a member of the last house, is in the race for messenger of the house. His friends are working hard, and seem confident of success.

Colonel J. N. Gilmore, of Sandersville, is a candidate for judge of the middle circuit. He was quite a popular figure about the Kimball last evening.

Judge Richard H. Clark was conducting a notably successful still hunt about the hotels yesterday. The judge maintains his dignity in the fight, but smiles serenely at the prospect.

If his friends are not very much disappointed in the matter, Judge Clark will go to the supreme bench.

Mr. Smith, of Coffee county, is a candidate for re-election as a messenger of the house.

Perhaps the strongest endorsement he has is the testimony of those with whom he was associated in the last house.

He was up early and late yesterday, and hard at work all the time.

Bob Berner, of Monroe, came in late last evening.

"I see quite a number of familiar faces," he remarked, surveying the crowd from the clerk's counter at the Kimball. "This looks like old times."

And in reply to a question about the speakership—

"Yes, I'm in to stay until the votes are counted."

Senator C. T. Zachry was another notable figure in the crowd about the hotel.

He looks the gallant old soldier that he is; and makes friends by a sort of instinct.

Hon. Joe Terrell was the center of another group all the evening at the Kimball. Scores of times he has had to answer the same question: "Will you run for president of the senate?"

"I don't know," was the invariable reply. "I'm trying to make up my mind now."

It is needless to add that if he does run his election is a very strong probability; for few people in Georgia have as many friends in and out of the legislature as "the man that beat Snelson."

Gazaway Hartridge is the vanguard of the Chatham delegation.

He is to be one of the prominent young men in the next house, as he is already one of its most popular members-elect.

Mr. B. F. Dodson, of Clayton, was another of the crowd at the hotel yesterday evening.

He reports crops flourishing and the farmers generally in his section more prosperous than they have been since the war.

Hon. Bill Atkinson, of Coweta, was one of the hardest workers in the whole crowd.

"I'm as independent as a wood-chopper," is the way he puts it. "No, I won't be a candidate for speaker."

G. W. M. Tatum, of Dade, succeeds himself. "Dade will be very close between Everett and Felton. I think it will be so the district over."

Mr. C. J. Welborn, Jr., is here from Gainesville helping his distinguished father shake hands with the members of the general assembly. Judge Welborn entertains no fear of losing his well-deserved title, but there is nothing like being sociable with one's friends, and he and his promising son are just the men to do it.

Hon. James R. Hogan, of Lincoln, the successor of Dr. John Sims, in the house, is expected to arrive today. There will not be a more valuable member of the legislature than Jim Hogan, of Lincoln.

Hon. John H. Sibley, of Cobb—minus the "nickel-plated bicycle"—was one of the most sought-after of the younger members. Colonel Sibley is an enthusiast on the subject of Everett. "He'll carry Cobb by between 300 and 500, you see if he doesn't," is the way he sums up the situation.

Dr. J. G. Gibson, the eminent Baptist divine of Oglethorpe, was a prominent figure in the crowded lobbies, as he is prominent everywhere. "I am here just as a looker-on," he said, "but if I can say a good word for our Oglethorpe boys, Sam Lumpkin or Hamp McWhorter, you may be sure I'll do it."

Judge Henry C. Roney, of the Augusta circuit, came up yesterday morning and spent the day in the surging mass of legislators and politicians around the Kimball. There is no more popular nor abler judge in the state than he, and votes fall upon him as naturally as autumn leaves upon the ground. Yet he is one of the kind who makes sure of victory before ending the battle.

"My election, I believe is assured," said he. "My friends, both in and out of the legislature, are working nobly for me. Yes, my vote will be amply sufficient."

Colonel Tom Cabaniss came up from Monroe last evening, looking fat and happy. At the Kimball he was given quite an ovation by his friends, and they claim he will be elected president of the senate by a good majority.

"Yes, I feel quite confident of being elected," said he. "My friends speak encouragingly of my prospects, and I believe they know whereof they speak."

Colonel Dick Wilson, the one-armed veteran and allianceman, of Richmond, is on hand and in the race for doorkeeper by a large majority. He was doorkeeper of the house two years ago, and says he is going to be again.

"I am the alliance candidate myself," he said in reply to a friend's query. "Oh, yes; I am endorsed by the alliance of my county, and have the endorsements of the members from the other two candidates' counties. I will make it this time, sure."

Hon. W. A. Davis, of Burke, one of the youngest but ablest members of the legislature, was around the Kimball yesterday doing good work for Colonel R. O. Lovett, of Burke, candidate for judge of the Augusta circuit.

"Oh, yes, we are going to elect Lovett," he said. "He is the man for the place and will get it."

Dr. J. E. H. Ware, of Fayette, was kept busy shaking hands with old and new friends.

His county never had, in all its history, a more popular or efficient representative.

"About the speakership," he says. "Well, I don't suppose the people at home would be satisfied unless I voted for Clark Howell. I think I shall vote that way."

Fleming and Calvin!

All the afternoon and evening they were centers of a general interest.

Both were leading members of the last house; and both, until last night, were in the race for speaker.

Mr. Calvin withdraws this morning in favor of his colleague.

"This," said Mr. Calvin last evening, "is my fifth and last term. I am going to do the hardest work of my life this session; and when the session closes I am out of politics."

Colonel A. S. Cutts, Sumter's candidate for speaker, was one of the most striking figures about the hotel.

"I have received many warm assurances of support," he said last night, "and am encouraged by the outlook."

ROBBED OF $3,500.

Two Men With an Ax Break Into a House Near Riverdale.

Mr. John R. McCullough, guano agent for Adair Bros., of this city, was robbed of $3,500, one-half a mile this side of Riverdale, on the Atlanta and Florida railway, Saturday night.

To say that the robbery was a bold one but feebly describes it.

Mr. McCullough had been collecting all the week, and at the close of Saturday, which was his best day, had the amount named, besides $7,000 in notes, in his gripsack, and $300 in his pants pocket.

Saturday night he went to his home with the money, as there was no bank in Riverdale in which he could deposit it.

He came in late and, as he says, to foil any would-be depredators, and turn them off the scent, threw the grip behind the trunk in his room and placed his overcoat on top of it, and then shoved his pants, containing the $300, under the bed.

Suddenly, when the night was well along, he was awakened from a sound sleep by a heavy crash, the door being splintered by one blow from an ax. He jumped from his bed and ran to the door in time to see two white men leaving the house, one of them having possession of the gripsack.

Grabbing a Winchester rifle he fired once at the fleeing robbers, but missed them, and while in the act of firing a second time fell over a chair.

The thieves ran down the railroad track for some distance and then stopped, tore open the grip, abstracting therefrom the $3,500 in currency, and throwing away the satchel together with the $7,000 in notes.

The next morning they were found a short distance from the house.

Mr. McCullough is twenty-five years of age. Mr. Kinzie Jones, his brother-in-law, was in the house at the time of the robbery.

The Federal Court.

K. C. Satterfield yesterday pleaded guilty to making and selling "blockade" whisky. But few other criminal cases were ready in the federal court.

The suit of W. Y. Holland vs. the Richmond and Danville railroad for personal injury, was again taken up, but no decision reached.

ATLANTA ZOUAVES.
Tonight, 27 Marietta street, 8 p. m. Don't fail.

THE GOVERNOR-ELECT.

MR. NORTHEN TALKS ABOUT HIS POLICY OF MAKING APPOINTMENTS.

And Signifies His Intention of Working Some Slight Reformation—The Educational Interests of Georgia.

Governor-elect William J. Northen is in Atlanta.

Within a few days he will be duly inaugurated governor of Georgia, and he is here arranging for that event.

Mr. Northen came to Atlanta from his home in Sparta Sunday, and since that time has been visiting Professor Neel in Edgewood.

He held a conference with Governor Gordon yesterday with regard to his coming inauguration, and they have agreed that Saturday next shall be the day for the formal change of the governorship of Georgia, provided it suits the convenience of the general assembly to have the inauguration on that day.

It will be impossible for the change to be made on Wednesday, that being the first day of the legislature, and all of the work of organizing the two bodies coming before the legislators then.

Mr. Northen will, doubtless, enter upon the duties of the office to which he has been unanimously called by the people of Georgia next Saturday.

AS TO HIS APPOINTMENTS.

Governor-elect Northen has not fully made out his list of appointments for the offices that come within his power of election yet.

When seen by a CONSTITUTION reporter yesterday and asked if there would be any changes in the executive department under his administration, he said:

"I do not care to say just yet whether there will be much change or not. The fact is that I have not at all made out any definite list of names for the various places left to me to fill with appointments.

"There is a great rush on me all the time by applicants for the different offices. Especially are there a great number of applicants for the places in the educational department and the state penitentiary.

"In the race for state school commissioner there is a very great deal of life, and this department is surely one that appeals to me as very important to consider for the welfare of the people of Georgia. I have been seriously misrepresented, too, by some of the newspapers of the state as to my intentions in making this appointment.

STATE SCHOOL COMMISSIONER.

"Some of the papers quote me as having declared that I would be governed by the endorsement of the teachers of Georgia; others say that I have bound myself to be governed by the recommendation of the county school commissioners; while others state that I will be influenced solely by the word of the county boards of education.

"I just want to say that I shall be influenced by no one of these, but shall, in choosing a commissioner of education for Georgia, consider full well the claims of the general interest of the people all over the state. Just who it will be I am not ready to say here and now, but one thing is sure, I shall weigh everything that ought to influence me in this important step very carefully in appointing the next school commissioner.

NO PETITIONS WANTED.

"You may state that the applicants for office from me are losing time by sending petitions to me. They will have but little weight on my opinion, for I pin but little faith to petitions, for, after all they are simply the opinion of the man who wrote them, endorsed, perhaps through courtesy, by a dozen or so men who, nine times out of ten, don't even read the paper they sign.

"I shall, of course, be glad to get any separate private letter that any friend of the applicant may wish to send me.

"I have made no appointment out of the regular executive department yet, nor have I indicated any to a single applicant. All parties wishing to apply need not stand back on any fear of my having already put a favorite in the office to which he aspires."

THOSE EDUCATIONAL DISPLAYS.

Mr. Northen certainly is prone to look carefully to the educational interests of Georgia.

When asked yesterday about the object of the educational feature he inaugurated at the State fair he said:

"I have been satisfied for some time that one great hindrance to the success of the public school system is to be found in the lack of sympathy on the part of the masses. Public sentiment is not fully in accord with the system, and therefore the general assembly has not felt authorized to meet its demands.

"In a speech made before the teachers' convention, last spring at Columbus, I urged a more general discussion of the matter of educating the rural districts, in order that the necessities of the people might be more fully understood, and the remedies for deficiencies fully met.

"This feature at the fair, therefore, was but a practical carrying out of the suggestions then made. The scheme has the commendation of many of the best men in the state, and they assure me that it will work great good on the line of the purposes for which it was intended."

"What was the nature of the plans you adopted?"

THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

"We naturally began with the State University," continued Mr. Northen.

"We had a splendid exhibit from the State Agricultural College of the appliances used in their methods of instruction. They were under the superintendence of Dr. White himself, assisted by some young men from the university, Messrs. Charles Herty and Jesse Coates.

"This brought the farmers into an immediate and close contact, not only with the methods of instruction, but the actual matter that was taught their sons in the state college of agriculture. It awakened a profound interest on the part of the farmers, and many of them tell me that their opinions are entirely changed as to the practical advantages furnished by the institution. The farmers in the state are now much more in sympathy with the state college of agriculture than they have ever been before."

"What about the other school exhibits?"

"Well, we had many others and in these, if possible, I had more interest than in the one just described to you. They looked to the elementary education of the masses. We had exhibits from the public schools, and it is enough for me to tell you that a distinguished citizen of the state remarked to me while examining these school exhibits, that I could not do a better thing for the state than to have brought the people to examine, to understand and apply the methods for instruction than I had there put before them.

"In addition to these exhibits we had addresses and lectures from distinguished men on the different interests affecting our system of education. These you have already had the kindness to notice with commendation in THE CONSTITUTION."

THERE WILL BE REFORMATION.

"Have you any special policy in your administration?"

"Yes, I have several changes of policy that I will possibly suggest to the general assembly, but if at the end of my administration I can feel that I have secured for the people a practical system by which the appropriations made will bring the largest benefits in the elevation and education of the masses, I shall be satisfied.

"I am sure I can have no higher purpose in my efforts for the good of the people."

FROM OUR NOTEBOOKS.

The Courts Are Dull.—Judge Richard H. Clark and Solicitor Hill having finished up the work of the criminal branch of the superior court, that tribunal has ceased to furnish news for the reporters.

Yesterday, after a few minor matters had been disposed of, Judge Marshall J. Clarke adjourned the civil branch of the court until this morning.

In the city court there is the usual routine work of the civil docket, and not until Monday next will Judge Van Epps and Solicitor O'Bryan tackle the jail birds.

Critically Ill.—Mr. Frank P. Barnes is critically ill at his home, No. 77 West Cain street, where he has been confined to his bed for more than a week with typhoid fever. At a late hour he was slowly sinking, and there are no hopes of his recovery.

Two Gentlemen From Athens.—Mr. C. D. Flanigan and Mr. A. H. Hodgson, of Athens, are at the Markham. Mr. Flanigan is well known as the business manager of The Athens Banner, whose excellent guidance is bringing it up to such substantial financial growth, and Mr. Hodgson is one of the leading cotton men and railroad promoters of the Classic City.

A Sick Child.—Mr. Dan Hall's infant son has been quite ill at his home for ten days past. During the past week his illness has been quite alarming, but yesterday there were indications of improvement.

To Meet Tonight.—The alliance members of the legislature who have arrived in the city are invited to a consultation at 7:30 o'clock tonight, to take place in Concordia hall. The alliance has established headquarters at 91 and 93 Markham house. All members of the order in the city are invited to call freely, both day and night. They will be always welcome.

Prosperous South Georgia.—Mr. Tap Merchant has just returned from an extended trip through southern Georgia, and he says that the evidences of prosperity are simply wonderful. He said in speaking of Valdosta:

"It has got the vim and push of a real city, and you can hardly get a man to stop on the street long enough to talk even business. It is one of the coming towns of the state, and is rapidly pushing its way to the front, as are all of the towns in south Georgia. It is a positive pleasure to travel through that section."

The Supreme Court Judgeship.—"I do hope and trust that the people of Georgia will remember Mark Blandford in the election for the supreme court judgeship," remarked a prominent gentleman last evening. "When I look at that empty sleeve and think that he has but a few more years with us, it excites my most intense sympathies. Then when I consider the ability of the man and his distinguished services on the bench, my admiration is aroused, and I don't see how the Georgia legislature can afford to overlook this veteran soldier and able jurist in the contest. Georgia needs his services and he deserves any reward in the gift of the people."

He is Getting Better.—The many friends of Mr. W. F. Gregg will be pleased to know that he is recovering from his recent illness. For three weeks and more he has been confined to his home by sickness, but he is now better, and his friends hope that his complete recovery is a question of only a very short time.

Has Not Yet Announced.—Mr. Walter R. Brown has not yet announced as a candidate for mayor, although his friends continue to urge him to do so.

SOCIETY GOSSIP.

A meeting of the Young Ladies' German Club will be held at Miss Harwood's, on Peachtree, this afternoon. A full attendance of all the members is urged as business of great importance is to be transacted.

The Misses Matthews, of Scranton, Pa., who are remembered so pleasantly by those who met them last winter, are again the guests of Miss Ida Hightower. They came to act as bridemaids at Miss Hightower's wedding.

Mrs. Bessie Miller Oton will give one of her charming entertainments this evening at the Young Men's Christian Association hall, on Broad street, for the benefit of the Railroad Young Men's Christian Association. Mrs. Oton, in her dramatic readings and impersonations, has made a great name for herself, and she is sure of a large audience in Atlanta, where she has so many friends and where her talents are so thoroughly appreciated.

The type made a mistake in the date of the Kiser-Ivey wedding. It will not occur on the 16th, as it was stated, but it is understood it will occur at an earlier date than that.

The members of the Ladies' auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association will meet in their parlors at the Young Men's Christian Association building on Wednesday, at 3 o'clock. The meeting is an important one.

Mrs. Darwin G. Jones has returned to the city after a summer spent at different northern resorts. Miss Kathleen Jones will be the guest of New York friends until after the Christmas holidays.

A social meeting of the Tennessee Society of Georgia will be held at the residence of Colonel I. Y. Sawtell, No. 50 Richardson street, this evening from 7:30 to 10 o'clock. A short address will be made by a prominent member of the society, and five-minute speeches may be made by those so desirous. The company will also be entertained by songs, recitations and music. A very pleasant evening may be anticipated by all who attend.

CLARKESVILLE, Ga., November 3.—[Special.]—Cards are out announcing the approaching nuptials of Miss Lillie C. Brittain and Mr. Jack R. Swann, both of this place. Miss Brittain is a daughter of Mr. S. P. Brittain, the proprietor of the Mountain View hotel, and is one of the most charming young ladies in Clarkesville, while Mr. Swann is one of the most promising young business men in this part of the state.

Their wedding will occur at the Mountain View hotel Thursday, November 13th, at 8 o'clock, and is being contemplated by their numerous friends as one of the most notable social events Clarkesville has had for many a day.

THE WATERWORKS

DISCUSSED AT LENGTH IN THE GENERAL COUNCIL,

And the Bids for Iron Pipe Go Through by a Scratch—The New Electric Lines—Other Important Items.

Atlanta's new waterworks was discussed by the members of the general council for more than an hour yesterday.

And at one time the result was quite doubtful.

Mr. Kontz, chairman of the committee, arose in his place, saying:

"I have here a report touching the new waterworks I desire to present."

The paper read:

The undersigned committee on new waterworks hereby report that, pursuant to instructions, they have advertised and received bids for the cast iron mains, the pumps and other outfit for the proposed new works. The committee have not concluded their labors to any part of the duty assigned them, except so far as relates to the cast iron mains and specials. It is deemed very important that this much of the subject be acted on without delay, so that the foundries may be engaged during the winter in making the pipe, a work that must necessarily consume much time for the great quantity wanted. Your committee herewith lay before your honorable body all the bids received for said pipe.

The bid of the Howard-Harrison Iron Company, of Bessemer, Ala., to furnish the same at $22.24 per ton is the lowest for pipe, and 2¾ cents per pound for specials, in the judgment of your committee the best bid, and they recommend that the same be accepted.

This contemplates the laying of the mains and location of the works according to what is known as the "Herring" plan, and being the same as heretofore approved by your body.

Your committee have before them entirely eligible bids for the pump, but they are proceeding with deliberation, and are aided by an expert, so as to insure selecting the best. As to this latter and other branches of this work, your committee ask for fees this time.

The report was signed by A. L. Kontz, chairman; Joe Hirsch and Hugh T. Inman, of the waterworks committee; Aaron Haas, George Winship and W. W. Boyd, of the water board, and George Hillyer, H. H. Cabaniss, W. A. Hemphill, A. W. Calhoun and Joel Hurt, of the citizens' committee.

"Now," remarked Mr. Kontz as he finished his report, "Judge Hillyer, chairman of the citizens' committee, is here and has a paper he'd like to read."

Judge Hillyer was given the floor.

"What I have to say," said he, "upon this subject I have reduced to writing and will read it."

The judge then read:

The undersigned begs leave to state as reasons for joining in the accompanying report, that whilst he is of the opinion that better water than the Chattahoochee can be had from smaller streams, such as Long Island creek, Game creek and other similar streams in the vicinity by purchasing the entire watershed of each, and moving all men and animals off and stopping all cultivation, control the drainage area and keep it clean, and thus have clear, pure water for all time to come; yet after full discussion the majority of the committee prefer the river, and the writer fears that more delay and harm may come from discussion over the matter than the difference is worth in the present stage of the question. The city will need this same pipe and laid in the same general direction if we were now to pump from Long Island creek or other streams in the vicinity. So that should the river prove unsatisfactory, the work of the Herring plan would not be lost, but could be easily extended and adapted to the other sources of supply.

For these reasons the writer has joined in the report and recommend, hoping that the river may do better than he fears it will, but at the same time knowing that if it does not, then the work proposed will be only so much accomplished towards reaching the more distant and better sources of supply.

"The validity of those water works bonds has not been settled," remarked Mr. Middlebrooks, "so where's the money to come from with which to make the city's part of that contract."

"The committee," said Mr. Kontz in reply, "has examined all the bids carefully, and as it requires time to get out these pipe, we decided to accept this bid, of course subject to the approval of the body. As to the money to carry out our part of the contract, I think that is settled. We had one election, and those bonds are in the supreme court. Then to make the matter certain we had the second election, and we all know the result."

"The bonds have been sold," said Mr. Inman, "to Atlanta banks, and they are ready to take them when delivered."

"I think," said Mr. McLendon, "that we are going too fast in this matter. I don't believe in binding the city to that contract until the bonds are declared legal. Suppose they are not legal, then where are we going to get the money to pay for them? I say let's wait awhile."

"For myself," said Mr. Woodward, "I doubt the legality of the last election. There people voted who had no right to vote, and I believe if the election was contested it would be declared illegal. I don't think we should be in a hurry about letting these contracts. I'm in favor of waiting and letting the people vote on this at the December election."

"We have twice voted $250,000 of bonds," said Mr. Hendrix, "and there appears to be a question as to both elections. Then at the December election we are to vote for $350,000 more. Suppose the elections held are all right and the bonds are legal and we lose the December election? Why, we just can't do anything, as the $250,000 won't be enough. So I think we will be much wiser to wait until after the December election, any way. We can't lose anything by waiting."

Mr. Haas agreed with Mr. Hendrix.

"In my opinion," said Mr. Howell, "the last election was a legal one, and no shadow can be cast upon it. I'd like to ask the city attorney for his opinion."

Judge Anderson said he thought there could be no doubt as to the legality of the last election.

Mr. King concurred with Judge Anderson.

"I think," said Mr. Inman, "that we had better close this contract with the proviso the bonds are issued, and go on with the work."

Mr. McBride argued for delay, saying that he felt satisfied that the people of Atlanta did not want to go to the Chattahoochee for water. He claimed that Atlanta's future was too bright to seek that stream, and advocated a mountain source.

Mr. Meader favored the report of the committee, and moved the adoption of it.

"I move to table the report," said Mr. McLendon.

On the motion to table, the yeas and nays were demanded. The call resulted

Ayes—McBride, Robbins, McLendon, Hendrix, Lambert—5.

Nays—Hirsch, Meador, Kontz, Inman, King—5.

"That's a tie," said Mayor Pro Tem. Hutchison, "and I'll vote nay."

Then, on the motion to adopt the report, the ayes and nays were:

Ayes—Hirsch, Meador, Robbins, McLendon, Kontz, Inman, King—7.

Nays—McBride, Hendrix, Lambert—3.

More City Bonds.

Mr. Inman, chairman of the finance committee, presented an ordinance authorizing the issuing of $40,000 of new city bonds.

The ordinance read:

That the finance committee be instructed to have prepared $40,000 of coupon bonds, as follows:

Forty bonds of $1,000 each, aggregating $40,000. Said bonds to be due and payable in thirty years after date, and to bear date January 1, 1891, and due January 1, 1921. The coupons to be payable semi-annually, on the first of July and January, for the interest on the same at 4 per cent per annum. Said bonds and coupons to be payable in New York or at the city treasurer's office in the city of Atlanta, and to be free from taxes. Said bonds to be signed by the mayor and treasurer and countersigned by the clerk of council affixing thereto the seal of the city. The coupons attached to said bonds to have the name of the city treasurer lithographed therein. Said bonds to be sold under the direction of the finance committee of this body, and the proceeds thereof applied to the redemption of eighty bonds of $500 each, known as bonds to fund the floating debt falling due January 1, 1891, and dated October 1, 1879, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum. Said bonds to be sold at not less than par.

The Forsyth Street Bridge.

Mr. Hirsch presented an ordinance instructing the mayor to appoint a committee of six, three members of the general council and three citizens, to investigate the subject of building a bridge over Forsyth street.

The resolution provided that the report shall say:

1. Whether the bridge is practicable.
2. Whether the bridge is advisable.
3. If both, then the best plan or method.
4. The probable or approximate cost.

The resolution was adopted.

The report of the finance committee showed the accounts audited to be $34,275.62.

Those Sewers Again.

Mr. Haas presented for second reading ordinances constructing sewers.

They were entitled:

An ordinance authorizing the construction of a sewer from Crew street to the old city limits at a cost of $40,000 was read the second time.

An ordinance authorizing the construction of a sewer from Baker street to the old city limits at a cost of $50,000 was read the second time.

An ordinance to construct a sewer along Old Wheat and Bell street at a cost of $5,000 was read the second time.

Mr. Reinhardt opposed the ordinances because they contemplated the expenditure of money by the council next year.

Mr. Haas favored the work because it was in his opinion, and the opinion of the board of health, absolutely necessary.

Mr. Woodward stated that when the bills came in next year for the work he would vote against them.

Mr. Hendrix advocated the sewers.

Mr. Inman moved the adoption of the ordinances, and they were adopted.

The Clerk's and the Marshal's Pay.

The special committee having in hand the pay of the city clerk and the city marshal submitted reports.

One report gave the clerk the right to demand and secure fees as follows:

For each case before the recorder where fine is collected $0.50
For each fi. fa. which is collected. 50
For issuing general business license, each..... 50
For issuing dray license, each..... 25
For issuing hack license, each..... 25

The other fees to remain as heretofore fixed.

"I move to amend the report," said Mr. Inman, "by making the costs in the recorder's court 75 cents—the same as at present."

Mr. Hendrix opposed the motion.

The ayes and nays were ordered on the amendment, and resulted:

Ayes—Hirsch, Meador, Robbins, McLendon, Kontz, Lambert, Inman, King—8.

Nays—McBride, Hendrix—2.

The ordinance fixing the marshal's salary allowed:

For levying fi. fa. over $100, $1.50.
For levying fi. fa. under $100, 50 cents.

The other fees were left undisturbed.

Mr. Inman moved to increase the $1.50 fee to $2.

Mr. Hendrix opposed the change.

So did Mr. McBride.

The amendment was adopted.

The Award Increased.

The petition of Joseph Thompson and others, administrators for an increase of award for opening Loyd street, was presented, and with it came the report of the committee to which the paper had been referred.

That report read:

It appearing that the petitioners were not represented in the condemnation proceedings, and had intended to be represented, the committee recommends that a new appraisement of the property be had, and that M. M. Welch and Isaac H. Haas be appointed assessors on the part of the city.

"When this matter was first up," said Mr. Haas, "the assessors awarded the Thompson estate $100. But, after its reference to this special committee, we have learned that the estate had no voice in the assessment. Then, of course, we reopened the matter. The value of the property condemned is nearly $1,200."

The paper was signed by the full special committee, Messrs. Haas, McBride and Kontz, and was adopted.

The Loyd Street Sewer.

Mr. Haas, chairman of the sewer committee, presented a lengthy petition, signed by merchants and business men on Alabama street, asking that the construction of the big sewer be postponed as the work just now would materially conflict with their business by blockading the street.

Mr. Haas favored granting the petition.

Mr. King opposed it.

Mr. Haas offered to amend by prohibiting more than one hundred feet of work at any one time.

The amendment was adopted and the report went with it.

To Use Electricity.

The Atlanta Street Car Company presented a petition to be permitted to build a double track on Marietta street from the city limits to the Air-Line shops on Decatur street and to be allowed to use electricity; also on Wheat and Jackson and Broad and Peters from Ponce de Leon to West End.

The appropriations unexpended were shown to be $624,848.20.

About Street Work.

Mr. McLendon presented a resolution requiring that the commissioner of public works be and he is hereby instructed to finish up all work not completed or in process of completion in the order in which the same was passed up, and that hereafter all work be done in the same order.

Mr. Woodward opposed it, and presented an amendment providing that not more than one-sixth of the street fund be appropriated to any one ward in any year.

Mr. King did not like the resolution or amendment, and wanted it so that not exceeding $10,000 shall be passed up for work known as streets ordinary, until the sum so passed up has been expended on the work directed.

Petitions Presented and Referred.

The following petitions were presented and referred to the appropriate committees:

Of A. B. Steele, for relief from tax penalty.

Of L. H. Strickland, claiming damages, $12.75, to wagon run over by scavenger cart.

Of Menko Transfer Company, for pro rate of hack license not used.

Of Guy Thurman, to have $1 street tax refunded.

Of H. Vandever, to be allowed to pay tax without penalty and cost.

Of W. H. Spinks, to be relieved of the penalty and premium for not giving in his property before May 20, 1890.

Of M. G. Mack, to have $1 tax refunded.

Of C. H. Lyons, to be relieved of cost in his property tax.

Of J. L. Dickey, for a building permit at 83 South Broad street.

Of L. H. Davis, for a building permit on Walton street.

Of J. F. Hardaway, for a building permit on Decatur and Loyd streets.

Of C. W. Hunnicutt, to be relieved from sewer assessment on Spring street.

Of the trustees of the Home of the Friendless, to have taxes on lot refunded or canceled.

Of F. M. Coker and John Stephens asking the city to pay the city's part for sewer built by them between Jackson street and the Boulevard.

Of John Ryan's Sons and others, asking that the tax ordinance as to drumming on the street be repealed.

Of U. Lewis and others, for permission to move Pierce church from present location on Georgia avenue and Ira street to Georgia avenue and Loyd street.

Of the trustees of the First Baptist church, to have lot, 49x165 on Fowler street, exempt from tax for 1890.

Of John Collier, to have a tax fi fa. against L. Mitchell canceled.

Of Mrs. M. E. Berry, for damages in the sum of $150, caused by cutting down the street in front of her lot on Davis street.

Of Carrie Logan, for a building permit at 112 Wheat street.

Of the Atlanta, West End and McPherson Barracks Street Railway Company, to occupy McDaniel street.

Reports of Committees.

The fire department committee granted A. J. Moses & Co. a building permit at 46 Ivy street; the same committee refused Mrs. Julia L. Harris's petition against allowing a steam heater at 345 Luckie street; the same committee granted a building permit to R. R. Stewart, 108 Marietta street, to Etta Goldsmith, at 46 Decatur street; to T. W. McArthur, 82 South Broad street; to T. J. Buchanan, at 264 Decatur street; to S. S. Pryor, corner Peachtree and Wheat streets; to B. H. Crawford, at 173 and 175 Marietta street.

The police committee granted a retail liquor license to J. W. Florence and W. L. Sexton, at 101 South Broad street.

The street committee recommended grading and sidewalk on Marietta and Bartow streets, rock curbing and brick sidewalk put down on Butler street at a cost of $20, excavating Hunter street to a width of fifty feet, provided the trustees of the Atlanta university give an additional ten feet to the street.

Resolutions Presented.

By Mr. Hendrix—That it shall be the duty of the officers and members of the police force to report daily all electric lights which they found not burning or failing to give light to the chief of police, whose duty it shall be to keep a record of such reported lights, and to furnish a statement thereof to the council through the electric light committee.

By Mr. Hirsch—That the comptroller be authorized to draw his check on the city treasury for the amount of proceeds of sale of the Benevolent Home in favor of R. J. Lowry, treasurer of Grady hospital fund. Adopted.

By Mr. HassAThat the commissioner of public works be authorized to repair the macadam on Washington street from Waverly place to Crumley street at a cost not exceeding $750.

By Mr. King—That Williams street from Baker to Powers be placed in a passable condition at a cost of $100.

By Mr. Woodward—That an amendment to the city charter be obtained providing for a more perfect method of assessing and condemning private property. Adopted.

By Mr. McBride—That 27x100 feet of Miss H. M. Smith's property, corner Ira and Crumley street, be condemned.

AT THE THEATER.

Milton Nobles was greeted by an enthusiastic audience last night. "From Sire to Son" has a strong and clever plot, while the dialogue at times assumes both tragical and comical proportions. Mr. Nobles's every appearance was followed with warm applause. His acting is free from the belittling stagecraft so much in vogue among melodramatic actors. As an artist he proved an excellent range, and gave an agreeable interpretation of his role, powerful and sympathetic in emotional scenes, and at times showing flashes of tragic spirit which won unanimous and hearty approval from the audience.

In the order of merit, Mr. L. J. Loring deserves recognition for the able manner in which he acquitted himself of his role of Dr. Mandrake. Mr. Loring could undoubtedly do credit to a less limited role, but his presence in the cast imparts a goodly share to the play's success.

David R. Young was very effective as the criminal gambler, free from rant, and well aware of the demands of his part. The Messrs. Fessler, Howard, Clarke and Ready completed the male part of the cast with efficiency.

Miss Lizzie Lambert captured the house with her graceful and winning impersonations. In the last act she rose far above her general acting and made a brilliant picture in a most thrilling scene. Miss Mary Davenport, May Bardell and Grace Page evinced talent of the comic vein and rendered their respective roles with befitting vim.

The play was staged with extreme care. The appearance of the stage coach, drawn by a span of bays, was heartily applauded.

"From Sire to Son" is a masterpiece—a play that will live.

Tonight Mr. Nobles and his excellent company will be seen in his splendid play, "Love and Law."

Effie Ellsler.

The announcement of Effie Ellsler at the opera house has caused quite a flutter in society circles, inasmuch as aside from the gifted actress' personal popularity, she has in her company a young lady who calls Atlanta her home. Her names is Loula Porter, and in Miss Ellsler's opening play, "The Governess," Miss Porter enacts the role of Helen Talbot, a poor relation, and a scheming adventuress. Numerous theater parties are being formed, and the wealth and fashion of Atlanta's Four Hundred will, by their presence, lend a scene of brilliancy not often seen in the opera house. Friday and Saturday "Miss Manning," a new comedy will be put, with Miss Porter in an entirely different characterization.

FIGHT ON AN ENGINE.

The Engineer and Fireman Grapple in a Death Struggle.

A fight, to the death, between the engineer and fireman of an express train, speeding through the country at night, is a bold conception of a modern novelist.

The fireman is jealous of the engineer; one night, crazed with drink, he heaps on fuel until the boiler is likely to explode. The engineer pleads with him, then expostulates, and at last attempts to prevent further addition. Then the fireman grapples the engineer and tries to throw him from the engine; a terrible struggle ensues. The fight is for life! They speak no word, but with teeth clenched, strive one to precipitate the other to the ground.

Meanwhile the train rushes on. The engineer, finally growing weak, endeavors to reach the regulator, to stop the train and summon help. Too late! The crazed fireman guesses his plan, stiffens himself to a superhuman effort, lifts the exhausted engineer from his feet, exclaiming:

"Ah, you want to stop the train! Now, out you go."

With this he flings the engineer out—but the latter clings to him, he cannot shake him off, so both go out together! Drawn under the wheels, they are found headless, two bloody trunks clinging in a death embrace! And the train, ungoverned, rushes on in the darkness!

Here the story ends; the fate of the train is left to the imagination. It is easy to see that the chances are a hundred to one it rushes on to destruction. So with the person having chronic kidney complaint—it is almost certain to result in Bright's disease, then death, for the doctors admit they have no cure for it. But a certain cure may be had. Note what Sumpter Heard, of Frederick, Md., says, in a letter of May 19, 1890: "For five years I had been the victim of Bright's disease, at times suffering the severest pains. I tried many kidney remedies, and consulted as many physicians, but was not benefitted and at length became tired of what seemed to be and was a useless expenditure. I began taking Warner's Safe Cure and was relieved at once. The old symptoms recur occasionally, but I find relief only with the above remedy, which I regard as the best of proprietary medicines."

Mrs. Oton, who gives an entertainment at the Railroad Young Men's Christian Association tonight, is favorably known as an excellent teacher of elocution. Among her pupils was Miss Loula Porter, who is to appear this week at DeGive's.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Announcement.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the position of doorkeeper of the lower house of the legislature. In making this announcement, I state frankly that I desire the position, and may add some facts as my reasons to all for becoming a candidate: I have been a consistent democrat all my life; served in the confederate army throughout; have had previous experience as doorkeeper, and will, if honored by the choice of the members of the lower house, endeavor to serve them to the best of my ability. The Products of Nature Cannot Be Imitated.

The medical profession are opposed to nostrums and justly so, but with one accord they heartily endorse Nature's remedies. There are few physicians in America today who do not recommend their patients to go to Carlsbad, or, if this is impossible, to take the genuine Carlsbad Salts for any stomach or liver trouble. The remarkable merit of this salt, which is produced by the city of Carlsbad, by the evaporation of the Carlsbad Sprudel Water, has been known to the civilized world for more than five centuries. It has achieved its unapproached reputation, and retains it wholly on its merits. It is a natural remedy which is always effective in all disorders of the stomach, liver and kidneys; for habitual constipation, gouty and rheumatic affections it is without equal. Be sure to obtain the genuine article which has the seal of the city of Carlsbad and the signature of "Eisner & Mendelson Co., Sole Agents, 6 Barclay street, N. Y.," on the neck of every bottle and on the outside cartoon. Write for pamphlet.

New Calisthenics—By Dr. Mara L. Pratt.

This is not a treatise on the subject, but is an illustrated course of lessons beginning with the elementary steps in gymnastic drill and marching, and ending with the finished attitudes of elegant gesture. All the best in the Sargent, the Swedish, the Delsarte, and other systems have been drawn upon to make this what it claims to be, and truly is, "a manual of health and beauty." Dumb-bell exercises, wand drills, rings, double wands, pole exercises, resting drills, marches, motion-songs with music, gesture drills, and pantomimes, with instructions how to sit, stand and walk; all find a place in the pages of this school cyclopedia of physical education. Nearly every page is illustrated. Miss Edith Foster, the well-known artist, being engaged to sketch from life the poses and positions of children in all the varied movements and attitudes. Price $1.25. By mail, 10 cents extra. For sale by John M. Miller, 31 Marietta street. oct 29 dtf

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

To the Public.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for mayor of Atlanta, subject to the nomination of the citizens' meeting.

If I am elected, I will do my best to make a good mayor.

If another is nominated, I will support the nominee with pleasure. W. A. HEMPHILL.

For Mayor of Atlanta.

The friends of Hon. Anton Kontz announce him as a candidate for the mayoralty of Atlanta. They point with pride to his record as a citizen, as a business man, as an officer, as a public servant and as a friend. Atlanta needs a man of nerve, of probity, of high personal character, who relies upon his own judgment, and who cannot be swerved for mayor. Such a man is Anton Kontz, and as such the suffrages of the people are asked for him. td

THAT AMENDMENT.

A PROCLAMATION DECLARING IT WAS LAWFULLY CARRIED

Will Be Issued Today—The Executive Negligence Will Not Affect the Proclamation—Other Notes.

The constitutional amendment!

The matter, it seems probable, may yet become a source of litigation.

Major J. W. Warren, secretary of the executive department, says that the failure to comply with the law in regard to advertising the amendment will not effect the adoption of the constitutional amendment relative to the reading of bills in the legislature.

"That," says the major, "is the opinion of Attorney General Anderson. The proposed amendment was voted upon just as intelligently by the people as if it had been advertised for two months; and the votes showed unmistakably that the people favored the amendment.

"The failure to comply literally with the law in regard to advertising the proposed amendment, the attorney general says, cannot nullify the will of the people. He believes that the amendment was adopted; and he is the legal adviser and authority for the executive department."

HOW IT WAS DONE.

THE CONSTITUTION'S statement as to the character and extent of the error is corroborated at the executive department.

The amendment in reference to pensioning the widows of confederate soldiers, was advertised, at first alone, the proper length of time.

Afterwards the amendment in reference to reading bills the first time by title only was inserted in the governor's proclamation.

It was advertised not earlier than ten days before the election.

The law distinctly required that it should be advertised sixty days before the election.

WHAT THE GOVERNOR SAYS.

The governor's view of the situation will be officially expressed in an executive proclamation.

That proclamation will cover both amendments.

No distinction will be made between them.

It will declare that both amendments to the constitution are adopted.

And if that proclamation is accepted by the legislature, bills will be read the first time by title only.

The question may then come up as to the constitutionality of bills passed in this way.

The Medal Carried Away By One of Atlanta's Great Carriage Houses--A Wonderful Showing.

The Standard Wagon Company, of which Mr. T. M. Barna, a courteous gentleman, is manager, was admirably and most creditably represented at the exposition in a display that was second to none.

The Patti Phaeton, a duplicate of which, as we have before said, was purchased by Adelina Patti, of Wales, England, took the first premium over fifteen competitors, and emphatically the most deservedly, for it is as charming a little vehicle as our eyes ever rested upon, and for style, beauty and completeness is as perfect as human skill and the best possible workmanship could make it. It is one of the happiest conceptions and most elegantly executed designs of the Favorite Carriage Company, of which the Standard Wagon Company is sole agent. Their Canopy Top Surrey was the recipient of first premium, and was, we think, generally admitted to be the handsomest and best executed piece of workmanship of the kind at the exposition. Their 117 cart also took the first premium, being the best cart on exhibition, and as attractive a turnout as could be imagined. Their pony cart took first premium, and their speeding wagon second premium, the first premium on speeding wagon being taken by another Atlanta house. The display of this great and deservedly popular manufactory was taken from what they already had in stock, and was, therefore, a fair representation of their regular line of work. They are the most extensive manufacturers of buggies in the world, and their workmen are, as their display demonstrates, expert artisans.

Firm on His Feet.

From The Chicago Herald.

A little thing like a railroad accident does not disconcert David B. Hill. New York state is full of the wrecks of republican caravans that have tried to run him down.

When

In certain instances there have been arrangements made between a physician and the head of a family that a fixed amount should be paid for each day the various members of the family continued in good health. But should sickness enter the household, the physician's usual stipend was discontinued. Such an agreement is founded on common sense, for we don't want to be made well, we want to bekept well. There is a greatdeal of unnecessary sickness resulting from a want of careful attention to bodily requirements. Keep the blood pure, keep the functional habits of the body regular, counteract the effects of exposure by always having a bottle of Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla in the household and using it in anticipation of an attack of illness or when the very first symptoms are manifest. Disease will not trouble you if you will heed this good advice. It is an excellent preventive of disease and decay, as well as a safe cure.—Marion Banner.

"THE PLYMOUTH ROCK IDEA"
From New York World, July 10, 1890.

PANTS TO ORDER $3.00 TO $8.25

—The production of clothing for men appears at present in this country to be divided into three distinct trades—the ready-made—the regular merchant tailor—and what is known in the trade as the "Plymouth Rock" idea, so named from its originators, the famous Plymouth Rock Pants Company of Boston—that is the cutting of clothes to each individual's measures but made in such quantities as to reduce the price to ready-made basis. This is the latest and perhaps most popular plan, opening as it does to the masses the luxury of clothing cut to order at ready-made prices.——

DISSOLUTION OF COPARTNERSHIP.

THE PARTNERSHIP HERETOFORE EXISTing between the undersigned, under the style of Atlanta Real Estate Exchange, has been this day dissolved by mutual consent, J. H. Mountain having sold his interest to Robert Miller, who will pay all the indebtedness and collect all the amounts due the firm.

J. H. MOUNTAIN,
ROBERT MILLER.

I have this day sold to L. McIntosh Ward the above interest purchased of J. H. Mountain, and the business will be continued as usual under the name of the Atlanta Real Estate Exchange, with Mr. Ward as secretary and treasurer and myself as manager.

ROBERT MILLER.

Having disposed of my interest in the Atlanta Real Estate Exchange, as above set forth, I take pleasure in recommending Messrs. Miller and Ward to my friends as being worthy of their confidence and patronage. For the present I shall devote my time to the construction of the Barracks and West End Electric Car Line and to the care of my real estate interests. Until further notice I shall make my headquarters in the above office where I shall be glad to introduce my friends to my successors.

THE STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, November 3.—The stock market today was divided into two parts, sugar refineries and the rest of the listed and unlisted stocks. In the first division there was decided weakness, but the other showed most gratifying strength on dull business, and at the close losses are few in number, while a great majority of the stocks dealt in are fractionally higher with one or two material advances as the result of the day's operations.

The buying of securities still comes principally from parties who are paying for their stocks, and in this manner the floating supply of securities on the street is constantly diminishing and, as indicated by the last two bank statements, broker's loans are decreasing. There was some weakness still in Illinois Central, but outside of that stock and sugar refineries the market showed a strong undertone, and more resistance to bearish attacks is developed from day to day. The market today was almost all sugar, and the feeling this morning was that a receiver was probable and weakness appeared with the first sales, and the stock dropped from 65¾ on Saturday to 62 in the first half hour. Great feverishness was shown, however, and nearly a full recovery occurred when the news that a decision had been handed down and that the appointment of at least two receivers was deemed necessary sent the stock off in the early portion of the afternoon at 59⅞. Its recuperative power was less ofter that time and while it reached 62 during the afternoon it gradually settled back to 60 and finally closed at 60⅞, a net loss of 4½ per cent for the day. The general market refused to sympathize with this heavy drop in sugar, and notwithstanding some selling by London in early trading, steadily advanced from the opening to the close, although the progress made was extremely slow and final gains were small. Louisville and Nashville, and St. Paul and Reading were most active, but neither showed any feature of interest and the only stocks in which there were marked gains were Southern Pacific, which is up 1 per cent, and Jersey Central, which rose 2½ on light transactions toward the close. The market closed fairly active and firm and about the best figures. Sales of listed stocks aggregated 123,030 shares; unlisted, 159,000.

Exchange quiet and steady at 481@485½.

Money easy at 4@6, closing offered at 5.

Sub-treasury balances: Coin $145,513,000; currency $4,858,000.

Governments dull but steady; 4s 124; 4½s 104½.

State bonds dull and featureless.

NEW YORK, November 3, 3 p. m.—Our market has fairly held its own today in spite of great dullness and a sharp decline in sugar trust, which sold off about 4 per cent on the decision of Judge Pratt to appoint a receiver, which will be done between this and Thursday next, and it is said that two or three receivers will be appointed for the trust, and sensational developments may be looked for, with sharp fluctuations in both directions.

The money market showed funds in plentiful supply, and at 6 per cent, and there was an improved demand for bonds. It was also noticeable that offerings of time money were larger, although lenders still scrutinized collateral most carefully. In fact, the situation here, if left to itself, would be more than promising. The disquieting feature is the possibility of further liquidation from London in such stock as Illinois Central, Louisville and Nashville, and Canadian Pacific. If London does not sell we look for a gradually hardening market here until such time as the atmosphere on both sides of the ocean becomes clearer, when very much higher prices will certainly ensue.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, November 3—[Special]—Spot cotton was reported as pressed for sale in Liverpool this morning, and futures were 2@3-64d lower, closing at nearly the bottom. This was considered an insufficient response to the weakness of Saturday here, but large southern orders to sell being unexecuted in consequence of the half holiday came upon the market at the opening and broke it nearly 10 points, the lowest prices of the season being recorded. From this there was a sharp reaction to the closing prices of Saturday and a subsequent decline to within 3 points of the opening. The close is comparatively soft, and it is evident that the rally was largely due to the fact that tomorrow is a holiday, and that the local operators are naturally nervous short of cotton at present prices. Except for this and the constant though quiet buying of one or two prominent concerns of obviously bullish convictions, there have been no features to effect any change in the generally bearish sentiment prevailing. The report of the agricultural commissioner of Tennessee estimates the crop in that state at 333,000 bales, against 160,000 last year, and receipts at New Orleans tomorrow are estimated at 30,000 bales, which will probably give us a total port movement of not less than 75,000 bales for the day. Our Liverpool advices report a decidedly less favorable outlook for Manchester trade, and it is evident that America must take the initiative in advancing the price of cotton if it be possible to establish such advance.

By Private Wire to Youngblood & Haas.

NEW YORK, November 3—The market has been weak with a larger business and considerable fluctuations, closing steady. After the opening there were some reports of killing frost in Texas this morning, and that, coupled with Liverpool closing slightly better, caused at one time a steadier market, but with renewed selling prices gave way again. We can but repeat that, with the prospects before us of a large crop, we can see no reason for an advance, and we think will sell lower.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, November 3—Wheat—Moderate trading, and the feeling weaker and averaged considerably lower. Selling orders predominated, and some of the prominent local traders were also on the selling side. New York reported a better demand there for December wheat. The market opened about ½c lower, and prices further declined ⅜c, then recovered some, prices advancing ½c, fluctuated some and closed about ⅝@⅞c lower than Saturday. The decline was influenced by a desire on the part of longs to realize. Cables were not any too firm, though not particularly lower. This, together with big receipts and a large increase in the visible supply, helped to turn the market on its downward course.

Corn—There was a fair amount of business transacted, most of which was local, as also the influences on the market. The principal feature was the selling early by a prominent operator, which depressed the market, but later he turned buyer and prices reacted some. The first trades were at a slight decline, after which the market sold off ⅜c, rallied some, ruled steady and closed with ¼@⅜c loss. Cash corn was in fair request, but the inquiry was nothing urgent and prices ruled ¼@⅜c lower with only moderate offerings.

Oats were traded in fairly, and a weaker feeling prevailed and prices ruled lower, but closed at a net decline of ¼@½c. The depression was due to receipts exceeding the estimates, owing to Sunday's inspection on the Galena and St. Paul roads.

Mess pork—A fairly active trade was reported, but the feeling was somewhat unsettled and prices irregular within a small range. At the opening the feeling was rather easy with 10c decline. Later, however, the market ruled stronger, and prices rallied 10@12½c. Toward the close trading was limited, and prices receded 5@7½c and closed quiet.

Lard—Only a moderate trade was reported, and the feeling was a little easier in a general way. Prices on the whole ruled easy and declined 2½@5c, and the market closed quiet at the reduction.

Short ribs—There was a fair trade, and the feeling was very steady. Prices ruled 2½@5c lower on the whole range, and the market closed steady at outside figures.

CHICAGO, November 3.—2:30 p. m.—Grain—Wheat opened and ruled heavy most of the day, buying against their puts. The Northwestern receipts were large, and, it is said, will continue large for the month. Money firm at 8 per cent also had a weakening tendency. A letter claims that the English wheat crop has been greatly underestimated. We see no special feature that is now in the situation, and no occasion to change our views.

Corn eased off under free selling by parties who had bought last week. Some news was received that the husking was disappointing, and the bulls look to the November report to sustain them in their position, but the short interest is light, and should the November report be void of comfort to the bulls, the market might decline sharply.

Oats sold off on heavy receipts and free realizing, but, like corn, they have many friends who buy on breaks, and most of the decline was recovered.

Provisions—Stocks were a surprise to everybody, being larger than any one expected. They are enormous for this season of the year, and are helping to make money light. The carrying charges are very great, and it is generally a good speculation to trade against such charges rather than to pay them, and a good shake out of lower carrying charges are likely necessary before any substantial advance is maintained.

Hog receipts continued large, and will for some time to come, and it will be difficult to advance values while product and expenses continue to accumulate.

A LADY DYING.

This is the case in every neighborhood. They have what the average doctor calls an incurable disease of the womb. Mrs. Dr. Mary A. Brannon's specially prepared treatment for womb troubles and menstural irregularities will cure you. Her treatment has cured thousands of cases the doctors have given up in despair. Absolutely unfailing home treatment, for displacements and falling of the womb, chronic inflammation and ulceration of the womb, leucorrheoa, irregular and painful menstruation, change of life, genera weakness and debility. She has many letters of gratutitude, showing the good results of the treatment in hundreds of cases.

Mrs. B. Thrash, of Stonewall street, Atlanta, Ga., will gladly testify as to the good results of the treatment in her case after many of the best physicians had failed.

Mrs. G. W. Davis, of Rutledge, Ga., willingly allows the use of her name to induce others who are suffering to avail themselves of the treatment as she is permanently cured with the treatment after an affliction of several years.

Mrs. R. A. King, of Sterling, Col., writes: "Dear Mrs. Brannon, I feel very thankful to you for your valuable treatment. I am strong and well and may God bless you for it. Will gladly recommend your treatment to others."

ON TO THE SEA.

CHANCES FOR THE EXTENSION OF THE ATLANTA AND FLORIDA.

Colonel Maddox Talks Interestingly About the New Road—Atlanta Should Keep Possession of This Line.

Atlanta is proud of the Atlanta and Florida railroad.

And she ought to be.

In spite of its youthful and undeveloped state, this road has gradually come to be regarded one of the most flourishing lines that travels the fertile fields of the empire state.

It is a road that Atlanta lays claim to as her own with truly pardonable pride.

Much interest hovers over this great enterprise for the capitalists of Atlanta, and they watch its rapid growth with much gratification and delight. At the recent meeting of the stockholders of the road the reports of the president and secretary giving the financial condition of the road were submitted, but were kept out of the newspapers.

Yesterday a CONSTITUTION reporter met Colonel R. F. Maddox, president of the company, and asked for some facts about the progress of this great enterprise which means so much for Atlanta.

COLONEL MADDOX TALKS.

"I have never had much to say," replied Colonel Maddox, "in the newspapers about the road since I have been connected with it, now about one and a half years. I found it in a bad condition and did not think the newspapers could do anything to help me out, hence I kept quiet, so far as to any publication of my movements or intentions.

"I will say, however, that the road is doing fairly well. We have more than twice as much freight as we can move, and are badly in need of increased transportation facilities. The road is a fine piece of property. It runs through the best agricultural portion of the state. The country along the line is improving, towns are building up and the future of the road is bright. I will say further that which will surprise a great many people, viz.: The Atlanta and Florida railroad has this season brought into Atlanta and carried out of Atlanta more cotton than any other road.

IT'S THE ONLY ONE.

"Do you know," continued Colonel Maddox, "that the Atlanta and Florida is the only road that is run in the interest of Atlanta? It is the only road that has its headquarters in Atlanta, except probably the Western and Atlantic, and they will likely be moved to Nashville under the new management."

AS TO EXTENSION.

"Is there any probability of an extension of the road?" he was asked.

"Well, the road ought to be extended from Fort Valley to Brunswick, or some other point on the coast, and Atlanta ought to see that it is done.

"I am clearly of the opinion that now is Atlanta's opportunity. This road should be extended to the sea, and owned and controlled by Atlanta business men in the interest of their city. When built it should stand as a protection to the people of Atlanta, for all time to come, against freight discrimination. Atlanta has suffered no little from freight discrimination, from the fact that she does not own any interest in any of the roads running into her city."

IT MUST BE EXTENDED.

"Do you mean that the people of Atlanta must put their money into this road to extend it?"

"I believe it can be extended if they will give their influence and patronage to the road. Let this support be put in a tangible shape, so that the men who put their money in the road could rely upon this patronage; that would, in my judgment, build the road, but to control it in the interest of Atlanta it would be necessary to put some money in it.

"Cincinnati expended large sums of money in the Cincinnati Southern, which has given her words of business from the southern states that she did not have before. If Atlanta shows the enterprise that she has formerly had the reputation of, she can take this road to the sea and hold it."

"Do you wish to engage in carrying it through to the sea?" he was asked.

"No, I do not, and cannot, but there are plenty of men here who have the ability, and will carry it through if they are backed up properly by this growing, rushing, busy city. I think the citizens ought to move at once in this important matter, for I do not believe they will have this opportunity long, as there is more than one corporation desirous of scooping this road, and may get it unless the citizens take hold and push it on to the seaboard.

DANGER AHEAD.

"I understand the situation fully, and I repeat, that now is Atlanta's opportunity to own a piece of property that will protect her unborn generations against discrimination, if she has the enterprise to take hold of it. The road can be built and equipped to Brunswick for $8,000 per mile. It would pass through a beautiful and rich section of pine and timber lands, and would bring out one of the most wealthy parts of Georgia."

"Would you mind telling me something about the financial condition of the road?"

THE MONEY'S ALL RIGHT.

"That is not legitimately a matter for publication," replied Colonel Maddox, "but I will state for the first time that we don't owe a dollar that we can't pay at a moment's notice. Our bonds are all sold, and after paying a small local debt, which we can pay at any time, we will have handsome money in the treasury. I might say that we don't owe a cent.

"I want to emphasize the fact that the Atlanta and Florida is the only railroad that has been built by Atlanta and owned by Atlanta men, and the only one that has been run in Atlanta's interest, and for these reasons the business men of this city should not allow the road to go into the hands of others, who might run it in the interest of other sections of the country."

"Do you mean to say that there is a likelihood of the road being sold?"

"Oh, no."

Colonel Maddox's talk is sure to awaken renewed interest in Atlanta for the Atlanta and Florida railroad.

When medicine is given a child, parents like to feel it is a safe and proper one. Such a remedy is Dr. Bull's Worm Destroyers.

TO THE PRINTERS.

The Reception on Friday Evening at the Y. M. C. A.

On Friday evening, November 7th, the Young Men's Christian Association, of this city, will give a reception to all members of the printer's craft, including book, job and newspaper compositors, foremen, pressmen and stereotypers.

This is simply one of a series of receptions which are being given by the association to the various trades of Atlanta, the iron workers being the first, and this the second. All the names in the craft that could be procured by personal visits by the association officers to the various offices, composing rooms and the union are now on file in the association office. To each of these will be sent a handsome souvenir card of invitation, gotten up in the highest style of the printer's art. The association also extends a cordial invitation to the reception to all who fail to receive an invitation.

The object of this reception is to acquaint those employed in the different branches of the trade with the advantages of the association building as a place of rendezvous, containing as it does handsomely furnished parlors, a library and assembly hall, and a fully equipped gymnasium; also to enlist as many of them as possible in membership.

This splendid building, erected at a cost of $100,000, was not intended for any special class. It is no clubhouse, but was built with the object in view of providing a home for the young men of Atlanta regardless of class distinction.

The reception will be an elegant affair—the parlors, reception and other rooms will be profusely decorated with flowers; an address of welcome will be delivered by Captain E. S. Gay, president of the association, and responses will be made thereto by Mr. Josiah Carter, of the Journal, and other members of the newspaper and printing fraternity. A carefully selected literary and musical programme has been arranged, and refreshments will be served by the members of the Ladies' auxiliary connected with the Young Men's Christian Association.

It is to be hoped that all who feel an interest in this work will lend their presence to the occasion. The reception committee will be on hand to introduce all who attend to the pleasures of the evening.

"Edgewood Park" was formed out of the forty acres on the Georgia railroad known as the Judge Hopkins's tract, just beyond Inman Park. The main street in this park is called Edgewood avenue because it was the proposed extension of that avenue from Inman Park east.

The thirty-two lots to be sold on the 6th of November next are part of the forty acres, and they are nicely graded and really very choice for homes. Being accessible by the Georgia railroad trains, lying between Mayson's Academy and Neal's Military Academy, hardly a half mile from either, only 200 yards from the Edgewood postoffice and the stores there; with trains to and from Atlanta at hours convenient for business men and school children, and in an established community of good citizens, making a pleasant social life. These lots are particularly desirable for homes or investments. The terms of the sale require only one-fifth of the price bid for a lot to be paid cash and the remainder in four equal annual payments and interest at 8 per cent, payable semi-annually. For instance if $500 is the price at which a lot is bid off at the sale, only $100 cash will be required, and purchaser gives four notes of $100 each, due respectively in one, two, three and four years, with interest at 8 per cent, payable semi-annually. The titles are good beyond question. A noon train on the Georgia railroad will take persons free to the sale on November 6th. Lunch will be served on the ground at once, and the bidding will begin. Plats with full particulars will be ready Monday, October 27th. Ladies especially invited to avail themselves of this opportunity to secure a nice suburban home or make a paying investment.

6-SPLENDID FARMS-6 NEAR ATLANTA.

I WILL SELL BEFORE THE COURTHOUSE door on Tuesday, 4th November (salesday), at 11 o'clock, sharp, for the administrator of Wilson E. Spruel, deceased, six very valuable farms, of from 40 to 130 acres each.

These farms are about ten miles from the city limits, in the northern part of the county, and each farm has timber, cultivated land, running water, and some bottom land. They are just the thing that I have a constant demand for, and parties who have been inquiring for farms will do well to examine them. Plats at my office.

Will also sell at same time, three town lots, in the town of Dunwoody.

Terms, one-half cash, balance in twelve months at 8 per cent.

Be sure to attend the sale. G. W. ADAIR, 5 Kimball House, Wall Street.

TODAY'S ELECTION.

A TEST OF REPUBLICAN WEAKNESS IN FULTON COUNTY,

And a Time When Every Democrat in the County and District Is Expected to Do His Whole Duty.

Today is the day—
Which will decide—
Just how weak the republican party is in the fifth congressional district.

It has been a long while since such a fight has been made by the republicans as will be made in today's election.

Acting on the idea that the democrats are over-confident, after repeated successes, the wire-workers of the republican party have exerted themselves to secure a full vote of the party in the district,—

And especially in Atlanta,—

As everybody knows this is the central point of the battlefield.

The negroes have been hard at work, and have about 2,500 votes registered in the county.

Add to these several thousand white republicans, and the list of available votes is increased to such an extent that, with the supposed apathy of the democrats, the republicans hope to secure enough votes to at least entitle them to contest the election in case the next house of representatives is republican.

DEMOCRATS EXPECTED TO DO THEIR DUTY.

It is expected that every democrat in the district will do his duty.

It is urged that every democratic voter in Atlanta and Fulton county will go to the polls and cast his ballot against Tom Reedism and republican rule.

There are plenty of voters in Atlanta and Fulton county to snow the republican party under so deep as to put a final quietus on their aspirations.

But it will take votes and not talk to do this.

So it behooves every man to stand true to the party and to lay all other business aside and go to the polls and vote for the democratic nominee.

This is not an occasion such as those to which the party has been so long accustomed, when a corporal's guard of democrats was sufficient to rout the half-hearted republicans, led by some obscure political figure-head, merely nominated to hold the party together.

On the contrary, the republicans are led by a man who is well-versed in political management, and besides this there is the menace of Tom Reed's "counting out" system, even after the democratic nominee has been fairly elected.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

The Young Men's Democratic League has been hard at work to secure a full vote of the democratic party of Fulton county.

Yesterday Mr. Harvey Johnson, president of the league, appointed the following committees is each ward to assist in bringing the voting strength of the city to the polls:

First Ward—R. C. Bosche, M. N. Blount, Henry Inman and John Connally.

Second Ward—J. E. Murphy, Joe Gatius, Walter R. Brown and Hamilton Douglass.

Third Ward—Arnold Broyles, J. J. Falvey, T. L. Bishop and Clarence E. Moore.

Fourth Ward—W. P. Hill, J. W. Davidson, James W. Green and John A. Miller.

Fifth Ward—W. N. Holland, Paul Tuggle, James Woodward and Harry Sharp.

Sixth Ward—J. K. Ohl, Burton Smith, Martin F. Amorous and Fulton Colville.

It is hoped that each and every one of the gentlemen appointed on these several committees will see to it that a full vote is polled on the side of true democracy today.

WHERE THEY VOTE.

Every voter is required to vote in his own ward in the city, and in his own district in the county.

Following are the managers and the different polling places, as ordered by Judge W. L. Calhoun, ordinary of Fulton county:

First Ward Precinct—Managers—Dr. W. M. Curtis, Martin Nally, M. Franklin. Clerks—W. F. Parkhurst, S. L. Solomonson, W. P. Anderson. Polling place—Curtis's drug store, corner Mitchell and Forsyth streets.

Second Ward Precinct—Managers—J. Gadsden King, justice of the peace; Ulysses Lewis, E. P. Burns. Clerks—M. M. Welch, H. T. Applewhite, Alex Mattison. Polling place—Fulton county courthouse.

Third Ward Precinct—Managers—Thomas E. Collier, E. A. Angier, J. G. Woodward. Clerks—W. H. H. Dorsey, Clarence Moore, E. L. Meade. Polling place—Gregory's drug store, corner Fair and Fraiser streets.

Fourth Ward Precinct—Managers—J. C. Hendrix, W. A. Osborn, J. S. McLendon. Clerks—R. L. McWhorter, Winfield Wolfe, Frank R. Reimann. Polling place—Corner Moore and Decatur streets.

Fifth Ward Precinct—Managers—James Bell, J. S. Lester, H. M. Beutell. Clerks—J. A. Lyon, Oscar Martin, Watson Fuller. Polling place—No. 192 Marietta street.

Sixth Ward Precinct—Managers—A. A. Manning, J. P.; J. C. Kimball, George M. Hope. Clerks—A. R. Fowler, Charles Rice, W. C. Thomas. Polling place—Corner Wheat and North Pryor streets.

West End—Managers—H. L. Culberson, J. P.; F. R. Bunker, J. M. Hunnicutt. Clerks M. M. Campbell, Lewis Cook, John C. Shannon.

The polls will open and close at the usual hours.

Owing to exposure I have been indisposed with acute rheumatism about six months. My skill ailed to afford me relief and I was induced to try Bull's Sarsaparilla, and must confess that it entirely cured me. It is decidedly superior to all other preparations of Sarsaparilla.—B. B. Entertainments — Nothing But the Best. A great many people in Atlanta are impressed with the idea that we do not run book accounts, that we are strictly cash. This is a mistake, we run thirty day accounts, and are proud to say that we number amongst our patrons over 600 of the best families in Atlanta. On last Saturday, October 25th, we furnished food for nearly 3,000 people, just think of it, 3,000 people. Aside from supplying Barnum's entire circus of 765 people, feeding them six meals, Saturday and Sunday, we supplied from our stock over 300 families in Atlanta. All day long a steady trade, transient patronage also selected such things as best suited their taste; reckoning six people to the average family, and we have 1,800, add at least 200 transient customers and the 765 Barnum's circus attaches, and we have a grand total of 2,765, nearly 3,000 people, who dined upon the best in the land.

This is a grand recoad, and we thank the people of Atlanta for their generous patronage. We run thirty day accounts and would be glad to have as many more customers as we now have. We furnish only the best, select groceries; nothing leaves our store that is not first inspected and approved. During this month new goods will be constantly arriving, and we invite your inspection. We have furnished, also, during the past two weeks all the fancy delicacies that adorned the reception tables of five recheche entertainments. Nothing but the very best would suit their respective fastidious taste, and we are glad to say that we firmly believe that our house is the only one in Atlanta that could have furnished the quality desired. The Liver

When out of order, involves every organ of the body. Remedies for some other derangement are frequently taken without the least effect, because it is the liver which is the real source of the trouble, and until that is set right there can be no health, strength, or comfort in any part of the system. Mercury, in some form, is a common specific for a sluggish liver; but a far safer and more effective medicine is Ayer's Pills.

For loss of appetite, bilious troubles, constipation, indigestion, and sick headache, these Pills are unsurpassed.

"For a long time I was a sufferer from stomach, liver, and kidney troubles, experiencing much difficulty in digestion, with severe pains in the lumbar region and other parts of the body. Having tried a variety of remedies, including warm baths, with only temporary relief, about three months ago I began the use of Ayer's Pills, and my health is so much improved that I gladly testify to the superior merits of this medicine."—Manoel Jorge Pereira, Porto, Portugal.

"For the cure of headache, Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the most effective medicine I ever used."—R. K. James, Dorchester, Mass.

"When I feel the need of a cathartic, I take Ayer's Pills, and find them to be more effective than any other pill I ever took."—Mrs. B. C. Grubb, Burwellville, Va.

"I have found in Ayer's Pills, an invaluable remedy for constipation, biliousness, and kindred disorders, peculiar to miasmatic localities. Taken in small and frequent doses, these Pills on the liver, restoring its natural powers, and aiding it in throwing off malarial poisons."—C. F. Alston, Quitman, Texas.

Act Well

"Whenever I am troubled with constipation, or suffer from loss of appetite, Ayer's Pills set me right again."—A. J. Kiser, Jr., Rock House, Va.

"In 1858, by the advice of a friend, I began the use of Ayer's Pills as a remedy for biliousness, constipation, high fevers, and colds. They served me better than anything I had previously tried, and I have used them in attacks of that sort ever since."—H. W. Hersh, Judsonia, Ark.

SPECIAL OVERCOAT SALE

HIRSCH -:- BROS.

Last week's business was a hummer. Our new store was filled with well-pleased clothing buyers who appreciate high class clothing at moderate prices. Every suit that went out brings fresh additions to our long list of customers. Here and there attractive sellers in suits and overcoats make big inroads in our stock. We fill up the gap with fresh shipments for this week. Overcoats, light and heavy weights; men's boy's and children's. It will pay you to see them.

Woe betide the Clothier who falls asleep in these days, when it is even dangerous to doze. The demand for Stylish Suits is so general and good taste so alert that Rip Van Winkle Clothiers find it hard work to sell their by-gone patterns. For wide-awake, up-to-the-minute styles, glance over our stock of Overcoats and Suits for Men and Boys.

Each day marks an upward step here. A new, quick force working through musty theories of trade; lifting, lifting, elevating and dignifying the high standard of correct commercial laws. The better, broader, brighter ideas inspire trust, and that creates business.

We are the pioneer champions of "One Price Marked in Plain Figures," and the system first became popular in Atlanta through us. That is only one of the methods which have given this store its present position. Other unique rules are gathering about us daily triumphs of trade that raise our doings above the common.
